Red Berlin Border Guards Back Down On Travel Curb

3 Americans in Civilian Clothes Defy East Germans

BERLIN (AP) — East Berlin border guards backed down Monday night when three Americans defied a new Communist restriction on travel through the Berlin wall.

After a dispute Sunday between the border guards and the deputy chief of the U.S. occupation mission in Berlin, East Germany's Red regime announced all Allied personnel in civilian clothes would have to show identification papers to East German police when passing between the Soviet and Allied sectors of Berlin.

Monday night three Americans in civilian dress, identified only as members of the U.S. occupation mission, drove up to the only crossing point still open to Allied personnel.

Won't Show Papers

The driver of the car said that when an East German policeman stopped him, "I told him I was not going to show him my papers. There was a brief argument and then I was allowed to pass."

The trio returned three hours later and again refused to show their papers. After another argument, they were allowed to pass into West Berlin.

The Western Allies, contending that all of Berlin is still technically under Western-Soviet occupation, have refused to accept East German controls. Western military personnel are ordered not to show identification papers to the East German police.

Use Tear Gas Grenades

In other developments, East and West Berlin police exchanged volleys of tear gas grenades Monday night, and West Berlin police were issued submachine guns for the first time.

The grenade throwing took place on the border between the French and Soviet sectors at Wollankstrasse. The Vopos — East German people's police — tried to silence a West Berlin loudspeaker truck with five grenades and smashed the windshield of a car. The West Berliners responded with grenades of their own, which they said had "good effect."

West Berlin police reported 22 East Berliners fled to the West overnight, one of the highest numbers of escapes in recent weeks. Among them was one Vopo who jumped from the second story of a house on a border street, landed in the arms of a West German policeman and sprained an ankle.

The Western police also reported 11 shots were fired by Vopos on the border in the northern districts. Afterward eyewitnesses saw a man being led away.

U.N. Moves to Ratify Congo Cease-Fire

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP) — The U.N. Command today awaited President Moise Tshombe's reaction to the U.N. secretariat's conditional ratification of the Katanga cease-fire agreement.

Mahmoud Khiri, the chief U.N. negotiator in Elisabethville, delivered the ratification and the conditions attached by the secretariat to Tshombe and his ministers Monday.

Khiri said he hoped Tshombe would accept the conditions speedily and would authorize the exchange of about 190 U.N. soldiers captured during the fighting last month. But some observers thought Tshombe might reject the conditions, which are designed to remove implications that the cease-fire was favorable to Katanga's secessionist regime at the expense of the central Congo government in Leopoldville.

In ratifying the agreement, the U.N. secretariat specified:

1. The agreement in no way affects the carrying out of Security Council resolutions providing for expulsion of foreign mercenaries serving in the Katanga army.
2. The agreement is strictly military in nature between the forces of the United Nations and Katanga. It has no political intention or aim.
3. The agreement does not apply outside Katanga.

Reds Told of Nuclear Arms Gains by Russia

Defense Minister Claims Ability to Crush Aggressor

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky says the Soviet Union has "successfully solved the problem of destroying rockets in flight." Presumably he means his forces have an antimissile missile.

Malinovsky told the 22nd Communist party congress Monday that the U.S.S.R. "is capable of inflicting a crushing defeat upon the aggressor" with a new branch of its armed forces equipped with rockets and nuclear weapons. However, he did not spell out details of the Soviet breakthrough in defense against enemy missiles.

Military Unity Needed

Malinovsky contended that rocket troops will play the decisive role in any future war. But he added: "We believe that the final victory over the aggressor can be achieved only through joint action of all armed forces."

(In Washington, U.S. defense officials said Malinovsky's announcement could indicate a lead over the United States if he meant that the Soviet Union had developed a defense against ballistic missiles.

"But if he referred to defense against air-to-air or air-to-ground missiles, they said, he was merely asserting a capability matching that of the United States. The

Committee Named to Seek New Dean of U.W. Medical School

MADISON (AP) — A chairman has been found for a committee which will direct a search for a new dean of the University of Wisconsin Medical School.

Dr. James S. Crowe, chairman of the genetics department, was named by the faculty Monday to head the selection committee after the post was refused by Dr. Ben Peckham of the obstetrics and gynecology department.

Peckham agreed to serve on the committee. Other members are Drs. O. Sidney Orth, anesthesiology, Van R. Potter, oncology, and Ovid Meyer, medicine.

West European and Japanese Spokesmen Assail Russian Action

LONDON (AP) — Protests and demonstrations spread throughout the non-Communist world today against Soviet detonation of a giant hydrogen bomb.

Government leaders, scientists and newspapers, especially in Western Europe and Japan, expressed shock and horror at the 30-to-50 megaton blast set off in the arctic Monday. India's Prime Minister Nehru said he was "deeply pained and shocked."

The Russian people themselves were unaware of the blast, not reported either by the Soviet government or press.

In Italy, tens of thousands of high school and university students marched out of classes and paraded through streets in a dozen cities in protest against the Soviet blast. In Manila, more than 7,500 Filipino college students were reported to have signed a petition urging the Soviet Union to halt further tests.

Protest At Embassy

British pacifist and philosopher Earl Bertrand Russell, 89, led a ban-the-bomb delegation to the Soviet Embassy in London to deliver a protest letter and said afterward: "We had a nice interview, but in the end it was too much for the (Soviet) charge d'affaires."

Russell said the Russians told him there would be no fallout from the blast. But British Defense Minister Harold Watkinson said the British government is taking steps to make substitutes for fresh milk which might be contaminated from the Soviet blast.

He said preliminary evidence from the huge Soviet blast and its accompanying smaller one "suggests a yield of the order of 30 megatons."

Australian Report

In Australia, however, officials of the Commonwealth Scientific Industrial Research Organization said its measurements indicated the Russian explosion was in the 50 megaton region. They said shock waves from the explosion—8,800 miles away—were still being registered today.

West Europe's newspapers were almost unanimous in their condemnation of the explosion as an act of terrorism without any scientific justification.

Japanese were alarmed by a warning from experts there that highly radioactive rain and dust from the blast would reach their shores around Friday.

Scientist Meet

The Tokyo government called a conference of scientists to decide whether the expected levels of radiation would be harmful to humans. The experts sought ways

South Viet Nam Assails North

Charges Regular Troops Being Sent Into Country

By FRED S. BOFFMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam formally charged Communist North Viet Nam today with sending regular troops into this country to carry out a campaign of subversion against the pro-Western government of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Diem's government made its charges in a 16-page letter to the international commission and asked for an investigation.

The letter included documents purporting to be diaries picked up in clashes with Communist Viet Cong rebels, transcripts of prisoner interrogation, and records of Red agents who supplied North Vietnamese with food, guns and ammunition.

Intervention Possible

Members of the U.S. fact-finding mission led by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor were known to feel the documents present a significant and generally accurate report.

The South Vietnamese action could be a move to lay a legal basis for any U.S. intervention that might be decided on by Washington and Saigon to counter spreading Communist rebel attacks.

Taylor, President Kennedy's special military adviser, has decided on the broad outlines of a proposal he will make to Kennedy, a U.S. spokesman said.

Taylor met with Diem for 2½ hours in what was possibly their final business session, a U.S. spokesman said.

Marshal Cleared In 2 Shootings

CENTER CITY, Minn. (AP) — A finding of justifiable homicide in the deaths of two former Wisconsin men who were shot to death by a town marshal was returned Monday night by a coroner's jury.

Jurors deliberated 25 minutes before finding that Marshal John Roberts, 43, of nearby Chicago City, fired in fear of his life.

The marshal's shots Saturday killed Orville Larson and David Simonsen, both 22, who formerly lived in Grantsburg, Wis., but had been staying recently in Minneapolis.

"I just had to fire blind to save myself," testified Roberts, who is a slight 5-foot-7. He said that Larson jammed fingers into both his eyes and that Simonsen was hitting him with his fists.

The shooting occurred as Roberts was attempting to arrest the pair and two companions for drunkenness. The marshal said the fight began in his police cruiser after Larson had grabbed the keys and jerked out the ignition wires to stall the car.

Indian Summer Hasn't Lost All Its Touch

Wisconsin — Mostly cloudy and not so cool tonight. Mostly cloudy and turning a little cooler with scattered showers likely Wednesday. Outlook for Thursday mostly fair and a little warmer.

Appleton — Temperatures for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a.m. today: High 56, low 38. Temperature at 10:30 a.m. today 53. Barometer reading 29.92 inches with wind from the southwest at six miles an hour. Total precipitation Monday, .36 of an inch.

GOP Leaders Cool, Skeptical To Nelson's Tax Proposals

Democratic Lieutenants Declare Party Won't Agree to Sales Levy

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The goal of state-local tax revision appeared as distant and difficult to attain as ever today, following the formal presentation by Gov. Gavriel Nelson of his long-heralded tax compromise package to a tripartisan legislative conference Monday.

Reactions from spokesmen for the ruling Republican legislative majority ranged from coolness to skepticism. More important was the flat declaration of one of Gov. Nelson's nominal Democratic lieutenants that the Democrats in the legislature won't accept his proposal for a combination of sales-income tax program.

Assemblyman Robert Huber of West Allis, leader of the Democratic bloc of 45 members in the lower house, released a statement indicating that the Democrats may want to abandon the tax revision cause, raise enough money through income tax increases to bridge the state budget deficit and adjourn the legislature quickly after it reconvenes next Monday.

Acceptance Doubtful

Republican leaders of the tax conference committee said they would carry the governor's proposals into their joint legislative caucus next Monday, but expressed individual doubts that the Nelson plan would be accepted.

"It can't pass without amendments," said Sen. Frank Panzer of Dodge County, chairman of the Republican wing of the legislative committee that has been negotiating with Nelson for a fortnight try to solve the tax stalemate.

"I hate to make a snap judgment, but this is not a compromise," said Sen. W. A. Draheim of Neenah, chairman of the legislative finance committee which would have charge of piloting any revenue bill through the legislature.

Draheim was asked whether he thought the Nelson plan could

Tenants Versus Landlady

Indian U. N. Envoy and Wife Leave Apartment

NEW YORK (AP) — C. S. Jha, their servants occupy the second, Indian ambassador to the United Nations, and his wife have moved out of their $1,000-a-month 10-room apartment at least for the moment.

"For three years in that house," said Mrs. Jha Monday, "I do the work." Mrs. Jha said she had to give a plumber my the landlady, Betty Roberts, add-bedroom for a whole day. I would ing that she is writing to President Kennedy about it.

As gathered from the women, the Jhas moved out of the clash reached a climax last week when renovation work was being done for a new tenant on Mrs. Roberts said they had not the upper floors of the five-story paid their October rent and she apartment building at 35 E. 74th had been informed they expected St. The ambassador, his wife and her to pay their hotel bill.

U. S., Soviet Delegates Trying to Agree on Secretary-General

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. and Soviet delegates scheduled another meeting today in an attempt to clear the final hurdle blocking agreement on an interim secretary-general for the United Nations.

Diplomats hoped the meeting between Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin, their eighth since Dag Hammarskjold perished in an African plane crash five weeks ago, might finally resolve the stalemate preventing the U.N. Assembly from naming a new head for the secretariat.

Stevenson and Zorin narrowed their differences to one key point at an hour-long meeting Monday.

Zorin told reporters the only issue remaining was how many principal advisers the U.N. chief should choose from among his undersecretaries. Stevenson said it was not a question of numbers but of whether the advisers would be "geographical representatives or whether it's a political division."

4 Killed, 18 Hurt As School Bus Hits Gravel Truck

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (AP) — A U.S. Air Force School bus slammed into the back of a gravel truck near here Monday, killing the driver and three children and injuring 18 others.

Airman James Harris, 21, of Lakeland, Fla., the bus driver, was killed when his vehicle plowed into the truck, one of several hauling gravel for construction near this northern Ontario town.

The son and daughter of the commanding officer of the U.S. radar base at nearby Lowther, Maj. Arthur Fox of Chicago, were killed. Melvyn Fox, 11, and his sister Karen, 12, were sitting in the front passenger seat. Their brother Gregory was among the injured.

Maj. Fox and his wife, Hallie, both of Phillips, Wis. (Price County), moved here three years ago when he took command of the 628th squadron. The children will be buried at Phillips.

John Morgan, 9, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Eugene Morgan, of Gree Bay, Wis., died in a hospital here during the night.

The three children who were killed were all from Wisconsin. Five of the injured children were flown to the hospital at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Akron, Ohio. They are Lagry Brown, 10, Debbie Stuland, 8, Jean and Joe Swann, both 7, and Michael Newcomb, 11.

Tree Swing Strangles Rural Beloit Child

BELOIT (AP) — Bryan Moore, 5, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Moore of rural Beloit, strangled Monday when he became entangled in the wire of a tree swing in the yard of the family home.

West Berlin Policemen on duty at the border near the Brandenburg Gate, background, are carrying submachine guns for the first time today. They were previously armed with carbines and pistols. A police spokesman said that sub-machine guns are being issued to all West Berlin policemen at the border.

Inside Labor

Construction Painless; Firms, Unions Planned

BY VICTOR RIESEL

ROWE, Mass.—Small town. Big story.

It's time somebody told it. As I drove up here someone recalled movie mogul Sam Goldwyn's crack about not fooling with the hydrogen bomb because "that thing's got dynamite in it." N. S. Khrushchev is fooling with those fifty and hundred megatons like they were seltzer bottles. They're not. So we have an enormous defense construction, an almost endless job.

Up in this remote New England village, you can see a vast atomic plant surrounding a huge steel "Vapor Container" ball with the legend "Yankee Atomic Electric" raised across the front of the structure. It was all done as swiftly as possible, and painlessly too.

It is an example for all defense construction—be it missile bases or ports for out-of-space ships.

There were no strikes here. Not one day lost in labor-management quarrels. Not even a serious dispute. The plant—now feeding atomic electric power into New England's grid—came in two months ahead of time.

Cost Estimate High

The ten privately-owned public utilities which organized the Yankee Atomic Electric Company also spent some $13 million less than the original $57 million estimate.

It was not done with mirrors or latter-day hypnosis. You don't hypnotize building and construction union leaders. You confer with them — in advance. If that had been done at Cape Canaveral or at the 22 missile bases, there probably would not have been delays, heartaches, quarrels, probes and labor-management-Pentagon-congressional feuding.

There's a great success story here in this Deerfield River community which had some 260 people when Yankee Atomic "discovered" it.

The story begins with the purchase of some 2,000 acres almost exactly six years ago. Then came the "designing stage."

At this point I pass on to you the exact words of a report by the big construction firm, Stone & Webster Engineering Corp., which built "Yankee Atomic."

"... That final costs were significantly lower ... can largely be attributed to the responsibility they (the engineers) were given in the contract to make day-to-day decisions."

Pre-Job Conferences

"During the design stage, for example, our construction engineers held a series of pre-job conferences with officials of the building and (construction) trade unions involved. As a result of these meetings, work at Yankee continued from start to finish without a single labor stoppage or serious dispute."

"This same authority allowed us to schedule the work to fit the rigorous winter climate at Rowe and to expedite the prompt arrival of materials and equipment."

There were many such parleys ranging over several weeks. The contractor got agreements from the unions before the job started.

There were assurances that there would not be any jurisdictional stoppages. They set up machinery for swift adjustment of grievances and disputes between the company and the union men, or among the unions themselves.

All work was clearly defined in advance. Everyone among the thousands of these union men knew, before they started, exactly who would be entitled to what.

Thus there was peace for some three years. And efficiency, too. For example, each of the four 120-ton steam generators was installed in four hours.

'Everything on Paper'

The employees knew this was going to be a long haul and not just a "temporary" one. Wage rates, usually hooked to temporary work, were worked out on a permanent basis providing a good annual income.

The whole job schedule was worked out, a labor spokesman told me, "just as an architect lays out his blueprints in advance. Everything was on paper—all specifications — who will get the work, what pay, what fringe benefits, what overtime and how much work they will get. Remember, thousands of workers had to be 'imported' from their home cities."

This past June, Yankee Atomic was doing so well with its supply of power that the Atomic Energy Commission gave it a 40-year license.

The contractors put it all in a 10-minute motion picture. They took the film over to the meeting of the national Building and Construction Trades Council (AFL-CIO) at the Hotel Commodore. The movie arrived at a critical moment. It was lunch recess and the boys were watching the opening of the World Series. The union men cut off the TV set. A projector was hooked up.

In exchange for Roger Maris they saw another record in the making — a strikeless, multi-million dollar project setting an example during these megaton-laden moments.

September Traffic Deaths Show Decrease

Outagamie Figure At 11, Compared To Last Year's 15

September became the third month in 1961 to show a decrease in Wisconsin traffic deaths, the State Motor Vehicle Department says.

This year 78 deaths were reported compared to 98 in September last year. May and July also showed reductions.

But the picture for the state during the first nine months of 1961 show an increase of 1960. Through September, 654 lives had been lost, as compared to 615 for a comparable period last year.

Outagamie County, for the nine month period, had 11 deaths this year as compared to 15 in 1960. There has not been a fatality in the county since August 10.

Winnebago County has had 17 deaths as compared to 16 last year, and Calumet County deaths have increased from eight last year to 13 this year, for the period through September.

Waupaca County has shown an increase from five last year to eight this year, and Shawano County had 14 last year and 13 this year.

Brown County deaths rose from 11 last year to 20 this year.

Court Dismisses Conduct Charge Against Youth

A disorderly conduct charge against Charles J. Weller, 22, 1748 N. Division St., was dismissed in Municipal Court Friday. Weller has been activated with the 32nd Division.

Weller was arrested by Appleton police June 25 after he called an Appleton home and made improper remarks to two girls, ages 13 and 14.

At the time of his arrest he was on probation and undergoing psychiatric care after being convicted March 28 in Municipal Court of tossing notes wrapped around coins to Appleton girls.

Weller was arraigned on the second charge June 26. The girls involved in the phone conversation said the caller asked if he could come over. They alerted police and Weller was arrested nearby.

The case was dismissed Friday by Municipal Judge Gustave Keller on the motion of Weller's attorney, Dist. Atty. Nick Schaefer, complied with the request.

Judge Keller said it was originally the intention of the court to continue the case until 1962 with the condition that Weller undergo psychiatric care. The judge said Weller has been undergoing care and in a pre-trial conference it was reported that progress was being made.

With Weller's call to service, Judge Keller said, he dismissed the case because he thought "a new atmosphere would be beneficial."

Dist. Atty. Schaefer refused to discuss the case. He said he preferred reporters "find out about it from somebody else."

DePere Man Denies Disorderly Conduct

Floyd E. Baim, 23, route 1, DePere, pleaded innocent in Municipal Court to a charge of disorderly conduct.

Baim was arrested by county police Saturday after causing a disturbance at the scene of an accident. Baim is being held in Outagamie County jail on $200 bond. His trial has been set for 1:30 p.m. Nov. 27.

The 32nd Goes on Active Duty

Appleton gets its chance to show the men of the 32nd Division it does care about their going away Wednesday when the men entrain at the Soo Line Depot on W. College Avenue for Fort Lewis, Wash.

One of the less desirable qualities of a town that is growing up is that its people come to think it unsophisticated to get excited about their fellows leaving home to go into active military service.

Appleton was a little slow in reacting to the 32nd Division call-up and some of the men of the Combat Support Company and the Headquarters Company admitted they were a little piqued at the apparent lack of interest in their taking up army life.

On the other hand, some civilians and some servicemen have let it be known they think the Guard already has received more attention than it deserves. They point out that many Guard members are there not out of spirit of patriotism but to pick up a little extra cash or to avoid a 2-3 or 4-year active duty stint in meeting their service obligation. They are, to an extent, right.

But some Guard members feel they are making a sacrifice above and beyond that demanded of others. They too, are right. And so are service recruiters who point out that hundreds of Fox Cities men have gone into the service voluntarily and without fanfare and have expected and received no public acclaim for it.

But the fact remains, you can't take 320 men out of a community without losing something. For many Fox Cities families, the calling up of the 32nd Division is a real and personal, and in most cases unwelcome, fact which means a temporary upheaval in their way of living that is certain to bring unhappiness and hardship.

The somewhat reluctant acceptance of their fate is understandable. No one enjoys giving up his job or business and leaving his loved ones behind as he heads west for military duty. And certainly there is nothing to be admired in the attitude that they took advantage, now let them pay.

Appleton has given its 32nd Division members a send-off party and an assortment of going-away gifts. But the feeling of a community can't be measured in hot dogs and beer, in television sets or washing machines. Appleton will show how it really feels by the way it turns out to wish the men of the 32nd God-speed at the Soo Line Depot at 7:30 tomorrow morning.

The U.N. Today

As the sixteenth birthday of the United Nations is observed today, it is increasingly clear that this organization, born of hope and optimism, is renegeing so seriously on the standards expressed in its Charter, that it no longer can be considered the last great hope of mankind. The backsliding may be temporary, as new nations gain political maturity they may develop an understanding of true human values upon which such an organization must be based to have any validity as a group aiming toward peace and justice. But in the meantime there is a real chance that the U.N. will dwindle to a mere debating team with only its extensive and worthy agencies to keep alive good deeds.

The attitude of the United States in this crumbling of principle at the U.N. is important. And our attitude unfortunately has been one of bargain and even tricky diplomacy. We seem afraid to vote as we believe for fear of alienating others as in the censure resolution against a speech by the delegate from South Africa. In trying to go around corners we succeeded in backing ourselves into one in the matter of Red China.

For ten years the question of Chinese representation at the U.N. has been kept off the agenda of the General Assembly. But the votes have been fewer and fewer. This year our delegates decided that such a resolution would have a small chance of passing since even Great Britain has informed us it couldn't vote no this time.

And so the U.S. gave the appearance of being willing to face up to a debate on the matter and the chance of losing. We persuaded New Zealand to submit the matter of Chinese representation for inclusion on the agenda. But we really didn't mean it. Instead we intended that England or Sweden, which had reportedly backed the plan, then would introduce a resolution asking for a committee to study the problem this year as well as the possibilities of expanding both the Security Council and the Economic and Social Council.

Such a study would take us off the hook for another year. In the meantime we seemed to indicate the Peking government might get washed away in the Yangtze or maybe Formosa would sink into the ocean. And somehow before a vote came up the people of the United States would be informed on the matter so they wouldn't put up a howl for our withdrawal from the U.N.

But the plan is crumbling. England and Sweden can't wait to introduce the study, and neither can the U.S. Neither does a vote come up, even though Communist China is in the U.N. The Europeans are all too ready to let the matter slide.

An epidemic of fear

There is a growing epidemic of fear in the United States. It is a fear of the unknown, a fear of the future, a fear of the people who are being called upon to make decisions about the future. It is a fear of the people who are being called upon to make decisions about the future. It is a fear of the people who are being called upon to make decisions about the future.

United Nations Costs Each American 67 Cents Annually

Editor Post-Crescent

Today is U.N. Day. May I suggest that now is a good time to try to figure out just what the U.N. means to us.

What would be the picture without the U.N.? There would be no central place where disagreeing nations could gather to discuss their problems. Each nation would pursue its own course unilaterally. World trade is such a complicated affair that what one country does affects every one else. So even if the U.N. deteriorated into a debating society it still would serve a useful purpose.

Now we all hope this will not happen much as the Communists hope that it will. Up to now we have kept out of a world war over Laos, Berlin, the Congo, and Cuba, to name a few instances. As to the cost the following statistics are worth thinking about. This table shows what each American paid last year to support the U.N.

|---|------|
| The regular budget including the U.N. Emergency Force | 16c  |
| Special Voluntary Programs                            | 7c   |

| Universal Postal Union (UPU)                                    | 1100c |
| World Health Organization (WHO)                                 | 5c    |
| World Meteorological Organization (WMO)                         | 7100c |
| TOTAL   | 47c   |

Is 67 cents too much to pay for an organization which is not perfect but the best that has been developed so far?

Please listen to WNAM tonight at 7 o'clock for a U.N. program which I think you will find interesting and pertinent.

Thanks From Little Chute Legion Post

Editor Post-Crescent

On behalf of the members of Legion Post No. 258 of The American Legion here in Little Chute, I wish to take this opportunity during the observance of National Newspaper Week to express our appreciation for the great service which the Post-Crescent has performed for our community.

We of The American Legion—men and women who have served in the uniform of our country during the three wars of the Twentieth Century—are well aware of the vital role a free press has in the perpetuation of our American ideal. This feeling comes to its greatest expression on the foundation of a citizenry well informed through newspaper coverage of governmental control and written and edited by conscientiously patriotic individuals.

The principles and goals of the Legion press and The American Legion are inseparable. Therefore we tend not only to appreciate and commend the Legion on this occasion of National Newspaper Week 1961 but to wish for continued and expanded efforts in our community, state and nation.

On varied occasions throughout the past year it has been my good fortune to be able to observe Appleton's city government in action and I cannot help but feel that it is almost my duty to tell the citizens of your city about my findings. I do not reside in Appleton and tried to be impartial.

Contrary to comments you often hear, I always found your city officials to be trying to do their best. What sometimes seemed to be endless red tape often turned out to be the rope that hung an idea that was poor to begin with or velvet ribbon that gift-wrapped a really good proposal.

Looking Backward

Right Man but Wrong Method

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct. 24, 1861

Col. Uri Balcom of Oconto County, the Republican and Union candidate for State Senator of this district, is one of the most enterprising men in Wisconsin. The spirit of improvement inaugurated by him in his own county where he has resided for five or six years and where the town of Stiles is the best evidence in his favor betokens what we may expect further in the event of his election.

His attention to local interests would be sleepless, and in this respect he would far surpass his competitor, Mr. T. R. Hudd of Appleton.

But having said this we have the unpleasant duty of adding that in our opinion Mr. Edmonds was swindled out of his nomination in the Union Convention, notwithstanding his noble defense which will not soon be forgotten by those who heard it and which surely will insure him a future.

We feared this Union movement would be merely an attempt to ape the Madison abolition but now we think we were mistaken. Madison harangues could come here to Appleton and take lessons.

We regret that Col. Balcom should have consented to take such a nomination.

Wisconsin Continues Strict About Junkets

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — One of the ancient perquisites of political office-holding is the junket, the pleasure trip in the guise of official business. It has become virtually a fringe benefit of the men Americans elect to rule them.

Recently in Wisconsin those voters who were interested might have noted that a couple of their congressmen were traveling in Europe, that the mayor of Milwaukee was investigating conditions in Germany, that a delegation of the Wisconsin legislature was cementing relations in a pleasurable oasis in the Far West of this country, and that a decision time itself would uncover facts that would influence the final choosing. Delays are seldom welcomed by the citizens or their representatives but, believe me, they are often for the best of all.

I have seen the efforts of many men and women as they worked to form what is known as the Capitol Improvement Plan. I've seen the concern of the mayor and the members of the council over such pressing problems as what to do about Appleton's antiquated and inefficient sewer system and scarce parking facilities.

There were times too, I admit, that the fuss made over some item of administration, blown up to monstrous proportions for heaven knows whose personal advantage, have all but turned my stomach. But then it is often the rubbings that show up a man for what he is and gives the people reason for marking their ballots for or against him in the next election.

Special recognition should be given to your Appleton Board of Education. It is an honor to observe these dedicated people putting their time and energies into providing the best education at the lowest, reasonable cost for Appleton's true future, her children.

Last, certainly not least, I must mention money. Anytime anyone thinks their tax money is being thrown to the winds it would do their hearts good to see a budget being prepared. Those with their hands on the so-called "purse strings" fuss more than a husband going over his wife's bank book and department store bills. Oh, and thank the Lord that city's funds are checked and rechecked so that they don't get into the financial situations that I'll bet most of us are in right now.

Be proud of your city government and if you feel you have reason not to be, investigate it, be sure you know you are right and then get out and do something about it — now.

Appleton Admirer

assorted groups of lesser functionaries were travelling elsewhere for the greater efficiency of their offices and the prestige of their constituencies.

A Milwaukee official recently explained that when that city sends a delegation to an official conference — such as the recent convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities at Madison — it usually sets up a hospitality room where the amenities are available for those who wish to become acquainted with the leaders of the Wisconsin metropolis. There are those who may question the relationship of such practices with the ideals of governmental administration.

PRUDENT, ON THE WHOLE

There are those also who may wonder occasionally whether all the public lobbyists who come to Madison during a legislative session to sample the fare of the capital bistros are actually needed, and whether their causes would not better be entrusted to their hired men.

But these are perhaps picaresque reflections. The fact seems to be that Wisconsin standards of operation in this field are extremely prudent, and probably niggardly, when put against the practices of most of the other cities and states of the country.

I have heard tales for years about the plush hospitality afforded state and municipal officials, often at public expense, when they attend conventions in other parts of the country. Once or twice as a reporter I have been able to corroborate the reports.

It is also a fact that Wisconsin officials generally hesitate to invite such conventions to Madison, because they know they cannot reciprocate the goodies. There is no official state hospitality fund, and to suggest that private interests might contribute is almost unthinkable in Wisconsin terms.

Once there was a legislative conference of modest size in Madison, and a conference manager of greater enthusiasm than practical judgment invited such private participation. The publicity that accompanied the event was acutely embarrassing.

DISTANCE

Yet the bystander often wonders about the curious geographical distribution of junketing events.

For years I have wanted to attend the annual conferences of governors. It might be supposed that the center of the country would be a logical place to hold them. Yet they are always held at such remote spots that the travel cost appear extravagant to the private delegate, against the probable returns.

Former Gov. Rennebohm, who detested every sign of waste in the use of public money, used to bear down hard on travel expenditures by the officials and civil servants under his command. Since his time the rules have gradually been relaxed, until today anybody who is anybody can just about travel at will, according to all appearances.

The Rennebohm era produced a story that persists in capitol life.

He was remonstrating one day with a petty state official who had taken a convention trip to distant Havana, Cuba.

"But, governor," protested the officer, "it is just a little way from Miami."

United States accepts Red peace proposals in Korea.

Egyptian mobs roamed the streets of Cairo shouting for arms to settle their differences with the British. It was a nationwide "day of mourning" to honor 16 Egyptians killed in past disorders.

Historic Speech Reveals U. S. Power to Retaliate

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Sometimes it takes months for facts — even though reasuring — to permeate the consciousness of the American people. Maybe it's because those facts aren't properly launched in the first place.

An important speech was made last Saturday night by Roswell L. Gilpatrick, deputy secretary of defense. It was "cleared for publication" by the President of the United States—which means he made the decision that its contents should be broadcast to the world. Secretary of State Rusk said on Sunday that he went over the speech with Mr. Gilpatrick before it was made and that the speech "served a very useful purpose."

Actually, the President himself should have made the announcement contained in the speech so it would have attracted worldwide attention. His reluctance to do so probably stemmed from a fear that it might be regarded as "saber rattling," though there is much less reason nowadays to be concerned with such niceties in the face of Mr. Khrushchev's numerous outbursts and threats.

Mr. Gilpatrick's speech is the first statement of the true military power of the United States that has been issued in recent years. It was released at this time undoubtedly to impress the Soviet Union, but one wonders how many misconceptions of American military power have been allowed to form in Nikita Khrushchev's mind heretofore because he never was told the facts or because some politicians sought to draw the picture of a weak America.

Mr. Gilpatrick's carefully chosen words are truly startling. He says:

"The United States has today hundreds of manned intercontinental bombers capable of reaching the Soviet Union, including 600 heavy bombers and many more medium bombers equally capable of intercontinental operations because of our highly developed in-flight refueling techniques and world-wide base structure."

This is a lot of information packed into a single paragraph, but it is accompanied by facts even more meaningful, as follows:

Nuclear Warheads

"The United States also has six Polaris submarines at sea carrying a total of 96 missiles, and dozens of intercontinental ballistic missiles. Our carrier forces (naval aircraft carriers) and land-based forces (overseas air bases) could deliver additional hundreds of megatons.

The total number of our nuclear delivery vehicles, tactical as well as strategic, is in the tens of thousands; and, of course, we have more than one warhead for each vehicle."

These phrases are from the vocabulary of military men but, in a nutshell, they say that America has bombs and missiles of a most destructive kind, and the means of delivering them. Mr. Gilpatrick goes on to say:

"Our forces are so deployed (located) and protected that a sneak attack could not effectively disarm us. The destructive power which the United States could day bring to bear even after a Soviet surprise attack upon our forces would be as great as—perhaps fair condition after delivery. The greater than—the total undamaged force which the enemy can threaten to launch against the United States in a first strike."

Second Punch

"In short, we have a second strike capability which is at least as extensive as what the Soviets can deliver by striking first. Therefore, we are confident that the Soviets will not provoke a major nuclear conflict."

The preceding statement means that, if the Soviet Union strikes first, she cannot hope to destroy our power to strike back. When America does strike back, her power of destruction is so great that it will be more devastating on Soviet Russia and her people than the first blow against the United States would be.

This is the first time any such information has been divulged by officials of the United States government. It confirms the famous phrase of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, when he made a speech a few years ago predicting "massive retaliation" if the Soviets attacked. He was derided by "left wing" critics and appeasers and others who thought it was impolite to tell the Soviets what would happen if they struck the first blow. It was the pooling of this warning in many quarters which may have stimulated Mr. Khrushchev's militant behavior in world politics.

Frank Disclosure

Now it comes out—Americans need not be so terrified as so many have been that the "first blow" would be fatal and that it might be better to appease the Soviets after all.

The administration's frank disclosure is a significant move in the "cold war." It should have a sobering effect on Moscow. But it does make one wonder how much political benefit was unfairly derived in the last presidential campaign by those who cried "missile gap" and otherwise depreciated America's military strength.

For, unquestionably, the military power of the United States could not possibly have been built up to such awesome proportions since Jan. 20, 1961, when Mr. Kennedy was inaugurated. Most of it must have been accomplished sometime during the two terms of President Dwight Eisenhower and with the $350 billion of tax money furnished by the American people for defense in those eight years.

At last, the "information gap" has been closed.

Merit System Needed to Reward Work of Outstanding Teachers

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D

Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

How do you reward excellence in teaching?

Pay the teacher more money, of course! Give him a merit raise!

If the problem were only this simple, justice could be served and we would be a step ahead in improving education.

But most teachers are tied to a system that has only three routes to higher earnings, regardless of excellence:

They can get longevity pay through years of service.

They can obtain graduate degrees, which automatically bring a salary boost in most systems. They can move into administrative jobs which offer higher salaries.

Now, years of experience and higher educational degrees may improve teaching quality, but rarely do they turn a dull teacher into an inspired one.

Administrative positions are necessary and important, but administrators do not teach our children, not directly, anyway. Sometimes, outstanding teachers may not even become very good administrators, so we lose both ways.

Not So Simple

This archaic system isn't helping the teacher shortage a bit. Many outstanding college students compare the possible rewards with other professions and decide against teaching. Many — too many — of our best teachers are turning to administrative jobs in order to increase their salaries.

Perhaps the merit salary raise is the answer. We pick out our best teachers and give them more money in proportion to the quality of their work.

Sounds simple?

It isn't.

Hundreds of different check-sheets have been designed by various school systems for this very purpose. Too often, the rating boils down to the opinion of one supervisor or principal.

Deciding merit pay in this way leads to too much dependence upon personal prejudice and favoritism. In theory it's fine, in practice it becomes troublesome. The difficulties involved in choosing the best become too complicated.

Difficult or not, something should be done to reward and inspire good teaching. We need to make a start, at least, and work toward a better solution.

Of course, starts have been made in the right direction. In

A2 Polaris Missile Fired for First Time From Submerged Sub

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The advanced A2 Polaris missile was launched for the first time Monday from a submerged submarine.

The 31-foot rocket was fired from 90 feet beneath the Atlantic by the USS Ethan Allen as the big submarine cruised about 50 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral.

Results of the test were not immediately available, but the missile appeared to perform normally.

This was the second Polaris launching from the Ethan Allen, largest of the nuclear subs built to carry the missile. Last week it successfully fired an A1 model from beneath the sea.

The A2 is 2½ feet longer than A1 and is designed to strike targets up to 1,725 miles away. The A1 missile, now deployed aboard five Polaris subs, has a reach of 1,380 miles.

some schools using teaching teams, for example, an outstanding teacher is chosen to lead and coordinate the work of the team of teachers. His role of leader justifies his increase in salary.

Still others are using a "master-teacher" plan in which teachers of proven ability are chosen to help and advise new teachers or teachers who have special problems.

There are many ways in which we can start building in opportunities for the demonstration of excellence which could be tied in with merit raises: Closed-circuit television for lectures and demonstrations by outstanding teachers. Grouping several classes in an auditorium where one teacher lectures or demonstrates, then students return to their classes where follow-up work is done.

All these and other plans can and should be tied to the merit system as a means of realistic application.

Whatever the ultimate solution may be, if we want to attract and hold the best teachers in our classrooms, we must find ways of offering them rewards comparable to those they could expect to find in other fields.

FVC Students At Leadership Talks in Racine

Seven University of Wisconsin

Fox Valley Center students and faculty members recently attended the 14th annual Inter-center Student Leadership Conference at Racine. Five delegates from each of the eight centers attended, with the Racine Center serving as host for the two-day conference.

The group spent one full day at Wingspread, which was built by Frank Lloyd Wright for the Johnson family and given by the family to the Johnson Foundation in 1960 to be used for conferences and special educational institutes. This was the first group of young people to have a conference there.

Attending from the Fox Valley Center were Peter L. Kesting, president of the student council, as student government delegate; Norbert Kozlowaki, journalism delegate; James VandeCastle, music delegate; Robert C. Schroeder, forensics delegate; and Linda Schoenberger, drama delegate. Miss Lila Locksmith was adviser for the group. William Millhizer, adviser for the monthly student publication, the Twig, also attended.

JFK Adopts New 'Get Tough' Policy

For Months Nikita Has Waved Weapons; Now Kennedy Does

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has now talked very rough to Russia but whether this is just a flash-in-the-pan or the beginning of a new policy of toughness remains to be seen.

For months Premier Khrushchev, while demanding the Allies back up on Berlin, has waved his nuclear weapons and cut loose with a whole series of tests. He has been the tough one.

President Kennedy, by comparison, has been mild. In the past couple of months some Republican critics have complained he wasn't firm enough, even suggesting he was an appeaser. This, reportedly, got under the President's skin.

Nuclear Tests
Last week Khrushchev topped things off by announcing Russia soon would explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb which would dwarf previous blasts. Monday Russia exploded two nuclear devices—one of them described by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission as let it be known he had full approval got the point across.

Several Factors
This speech serves to fry several kinds of fish:
1. Just in case Khrushchev has any doubts about American power—and officials here don't think he does—the Gilpatric speech would set him straight.
2. Khrushchev has been making propaganda hay—in trying to impress the world with Russia's power—and the Gilpatric speech may take some of the edge off it.
3. It is also a nudge to American allies, particularly in Europe, if they suspected American weakness because Kennedy didn't try to match Khrushchev in waving nuclear weapons.

Tough Policy
4. It may take some of the steam out of the complaint by some Republicans that Kennedy hasn't been tough enough.
Unless the Gilpatric talk is the beginning of a consistently tough Kennedy policy this one effort isn't apt to mean much since Khrushchev can be expected to continue with his own tough line.
The fact that Kennedy and Rusk let a lower-echelon man like Gilpatric do the talking in this case—instead of one of them—can still be interpreted as something less than an all-out willingness by the administration to be tough.

Stolen Rembrandt Seen in Germany

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP)—An original Rembrandt, stolen nearly two years ago from West Berlin's Dahlem Art Museum, has turned up in a baggage locker of the Brunswick railroad station, police reported Monday.
They said they found the masterpiece, "Christ's Head," valued at $62,500, last Sunday after an anonymous telephone caller told them where to look. It was wrapped in a thick layer of newspaper and was undamaged, police added.

All-Star Cast in Work By Former Lawrentian

Author of Production, James Purdy,
Taught Spanish at College 10 Years

BY JINGO
News with a Fox Cities flavor is filtering in from New York. One item is about a former Lawrence College professor and the other of a concert artist who still remembers his Appleton stand.

The artist is pianist Edwin Deveny, who appeared here in the 1950-60 season. He has his first Carnegie Hall recital Tuesday. He's set a conglomerate program, Bach, Copland, Schumann, Bartok and Prokofiev.

The Lawrentian news from New York is about James Purdy, former Lawrence Spanish teacher. He was a member of the faculty for 10 years before returning to devote full time to writing. His production since then has included a novel, a novella and numerous short stories.

Next Sunday he will appear as the author of the works involved in a dramatic reading at the New York Poetry Center by Broadway stars.

The works will include excerpts from the novel "Malcolm" and other shorter works by Purdy.

Involved in the reading will be Betty Field, Ruth Ford Zachary Scott and Eli Wallach — quite a cast.

Miss Field has a "left-field" connection with Lawrence. She studied with F. Theodore Cloak, head of the Lawrence drama department, at the Stockbridge Playhouse in the Berkshires.

Jingo takes this opportunity to thank Charlie House for his succinct and clever appraisal in verse of the biggest publicity getter in television history. The letters are coming in, Charlie, as might have been expected, and the tide is running, as usual, against us.

The Italian producers of the shock movie "La Dolce Vita" are going to put a good chunk of their tremendous American take into something a bit more w o r t h w i l e . They have cast Burt Lancaster as Michelangelo for their adaptation of Irving Stone's best selling novel, "The Agony and the Ecstasy."

Charlton Heston, who towered over all competition in his television appearance last week, will be in Rome to star in Paramount's "The Easter Dinner." The show also stars Elsa Martinelli, Harry Guardino, Baccaloni and Mariotto. It is a spoof on spies operating behind enemy lines in wartime and the film will be Heston's first attempt at farce.

Efrem Zimbalist Jr. is getting his wishes answered in spades. The 77 Sunset Strip private eye has been wanting to shed the cloak and dagger for a real actor's part. He'll appear of The Cheyenne Show in the role of Edwin Booth—none greater in Western lore.

Parker Gets Job

MADISON (AP)—Daniel Parker, 36, president of Parker Pen Co., Janesville, is the new finance chairman of the State Republican Party, chairman Claude Jasper announced Sunday. It is Parker's first role in politics.

'A' Rating

Kaukauna High Art Group Selects Play

KAUKAUNA — "Dreams are bara Deal Make-up is in charge for Twilight Hours," a fantasy, of Karen Van Dyke, Lou Ann has been selected by members of the Kaukauna High School Dramatics Club as this year's act play production.

Directing will be Mrs. Howard Sprenger and Mrs. Kenneth Roloff. Supervised by Linda Biseix and first production will be given Thursday at Shawano when Kaukauna competes against New London, Marinette and the host school.

Portraying the two characters in the play will be Mark DeBrum and Lillian Mather. Should the play win an A rating at Shawano, Kaukauna will enter district competition. An A mark on the district and sectional levels qualifies the play for state competition.

Behind the Scenes
Although the cast has only two members, the production calls for much work behind the scenes. This club members volunteered to serve on work committees.

Members of the costume committee are Judith Mach, Karen Vanervenoven, Carla Plotz, Ann Seif and Mary Jane Pinedor. Working on construction will be James Whittaker, Lee Anderson, Donald Straus, Ronald Straus and Donald Pfeiffer. Lighting will be handled by Mary Lee Oliva, James Berens, Patricia May and Carol Loe.

Committee Chairs
In charge of props are Linda Kemp, Sue Ranquette, Betty Fischer, Sue Goetzmann, Margaret Burns and Karen Bellm. Sound effects will be handled by Pamela Thiel, Mary Egan and Barbara.

Meredith Willson, Composer, director and conductor, practices what he preaches in a demonstration of push-ups. Willson composed words and music to a set of calisthenics designed to take off excess fat. President Kennedy's youth fitness experts are interested in recordings of the words and music for use in schools so the nation's youngsters can keep fit. However, since the government doesn't have money for the project, it is hoped a civic group or several public spirited organizations will come forward with the needed cash.

James Shigeta plays his chief tormentor but this is Bridges' show.

7-7:30 (Channel 11) — Bachelor Father. Otherwise known as the Peter Tong Show, continues to extract most of its laughs from the garbled English of Sammee Tong, the Greggs' houseboy. Tonight, to impress a girl friend, he wangles an appearance by Frankie Lane at his birthday party.

7-7:30 (Channel 2) — Dick Van Dyke. Has some fun showing off his dancing ability on The Dick Van Dyke Show tonight. He dances during a dream which treats the male-female relationship in symbolic terms — he is a puppet and his wife (Mary Tyler Moore, in a sexy bunny outfit) is the puppeteer.

7:30-8 (Channel 2) — The Wild workings of Maynard Krebs' mind are wilder than ever on Dobie Gillis tonight. Because of some avaricious talk by his law professor (law is an undergraduate subject in Dobieville, somehow), Maynard seeks to benefit in some kind of law suit. The opportunity comes when he gets his hand caught in a gum machine in the Gailus grocery.

8-9 (Channel 11) — The Problem for The New Breed is a bottle of medicine. The pharmacist made an error, so there's a woman walking around with some stuff which may kill her. All efforts to find her fail — and we know why. Her husband and his buddy are afraid that, if the police find her, the investigators also may learn about a bit of criminal activity.

8-9 (Channel 4-5) — Milton Berle is surprisingly effective in a straight dramatic role on The Dick Powell Show tonight. He plays a part he has long wanted to try — a card sharp. Berle is actually quite adept with cards. All the trickery you'll see actually is done by Berle.

9-10 (Channel 11) — Alcoa Premiere presents Lloyd Bridges as an American pilot captured by the Chinese Communists during the Korean War. To save his sanity during three months of torture, he loses himself in a reverie about the home he plans to build. Animation is used to show this house going up, board by board, on the blank wall of his miserable cell.

Cinderella Fable Can Come True, Broadway Actress Discovers
NEW YORK (AP) — The Cinderella fable still comes true on Broadway. At least for Elizabeth Ashley.

Miss Ashley auditioned for a lead role in "Take Her, She's Mine" for director George Abbott and producer Hal Prince. As she walked toward the elevator, Prince called after her "Miss Ashley, I know this is unheard of but the part is yours."

The 21-year-old actress previously had been understudy to Barbara Bel Geddes in "Mary Mary." She arrived in New York from her native Baton Rouge, La., three years ago.

Geraldine Page Plays Nun Role in 'Umbrella'
NEW YORK — Geraldine Page is cast as a nun in "The Umbrella," her next stage assignment. The play marks the New York playwrighting debut of Bertrand Castelli, collaborator on the comedy-drama with Raphael Hol-lander.

Miss Page was last seen here in the long-run hit, "Sweet Bird of Youth" by Tennessee Williams.

Military Study Being Made by Defense Experts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Defense is conducting a number of studies designed to improve the nation's military organization, a spokesman for the department says.

The spokesman said any resulting change in organization probably would follow the pattern of reorganizations effected earlier this year.

He indicated that one area under study involves such technical services as ordnance, quartermaster and chemical divisions of the Army.

He said pending reorganizations might be conducted within a service rather than pooling of the facilities of two or more services.

The Pentagon also has organized the U.S. Strike Command, under which certain strategic units report directly to the department rather than through Army, Navy or Air Force commanders.

Mother of Actor Hurt in Crash

INDIO, Calif. (AP)—The mother and stepfather of actor John Wayne were injured Monday when their car ran off a highway and smashed into a cement marker post four miles east of here. California highway patrolmen said Wayne's mother, Mary Preen, 70, and her husband, Sidney Preen, 65, Long Beach, were taken to a hospital here.

Officers said the Preen car apparently went out of control on a curve on a steep grade.

Stubborn Arabs Don't Bother Eddie Cantor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A group of Arabs doesn't worry Eddie Cantor.

An Arab organization in Syria announced it was boycotting Cantor's films because of what it called his "Zionist affiliations and material support of Israel."

Said the comedian "If they wish to boycott my pictures I just won't buy their camels."

Cantor has another reason for not worrying. He hasn't made a picture in 15 years.

Trujillo's Hopes Growing Dimmer

Young Ramfis Determined to Hold Father's Dynasty Together

BY DOM BONAFEDE
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC — Young Ramfis Trujillo Jr. was striving with fanatical determination today to hold together the crumbling dynasty of his assassinated dictator father. But hopes of the 33-year-old armed forces chief to crush the will of defiant oppositionists appear dimmer with each day.

Reports were widespread Monday that at least two persons were killed in disturbances in Santiago. And in an effort to the government, the anti-Trujillo National Civic Union has called a 3-day period of mourning for victims killed during the past week of riots and violence.

Streets Patrolled
To discourage a repetition of the mass disorders, national police and armed troops Monday night patrolled the streets of this strife-torn capital in force.

Nevertheless, reports that Gen. Trujillo is about to abdicate his post and flee the country appear premature.

Though his removal — either by force or on his own volition — is inevitable, there are no signs that he is panicking in the face of the current uprisings. One foreign diplomat reported, "as long as the military sticks with him, he has no need to leave at this time."

From all outward signs, the country's armed forces are remaining loyal to the one-time dandy who cut a glamorous figure as an international playboy.

Mollify Enemies
Rather than surrender, Trujillo is trying to mollify his enemies by additional relaxation in the nation's police and political structure.

In one obvious act of appeasement towards the anti-Trujillists, President Joaquin Balaguer outlawed the popular Dominican Movement (MPD), Communist-infiltrated party led by Maximo Lopez Molina, a Castro trained rabble-rouser. Moderate elements of the opposition previously declared that any coalition government including the MPD would be unacceptable.

Balaguer also announced that the police, who have shown an over-zealousness to knock heads will be instructed in "methods of restraint," and that the government's secret police would be disbanded.

Reds Told of Nuclear Arms Gains by Russia

U.S. Army has been developing the Nike-Zeus system as a ballistic missile defense but it is not yet operational.

Informants said the Soviet defense chief also declared that Soviet scientists had "controlled" a 50-megaton nuclear bomb but did not elaborate.

Informants said Malinovsky also reported that the Soviet Union maintains 1,800 military units capable of firing missiles upon any part of the world, that it has developed long-range missiles with millimeter accuracy, and that it has a submarine fleet capable of patrols under the arctic ice pack.

"We are deeply convinced that in this war, if it is thrust upon us, the Socialist (Communist) camp will be victorious and capitalism will be destroyed forever," Malinovsky declared. Tass said delegates gave him stormy applause at this point.

Chou Goes Home
The party congress continued today, but Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai broke away for a hurried flight back to Peking. Informants said he was going to confer with Mao Tze-tung, apparently about the open rift between the Kremlin and Red China over Albania.

Chou during the congress severely criticized Khrushchev for his denunciation of the Albanian Communist command.

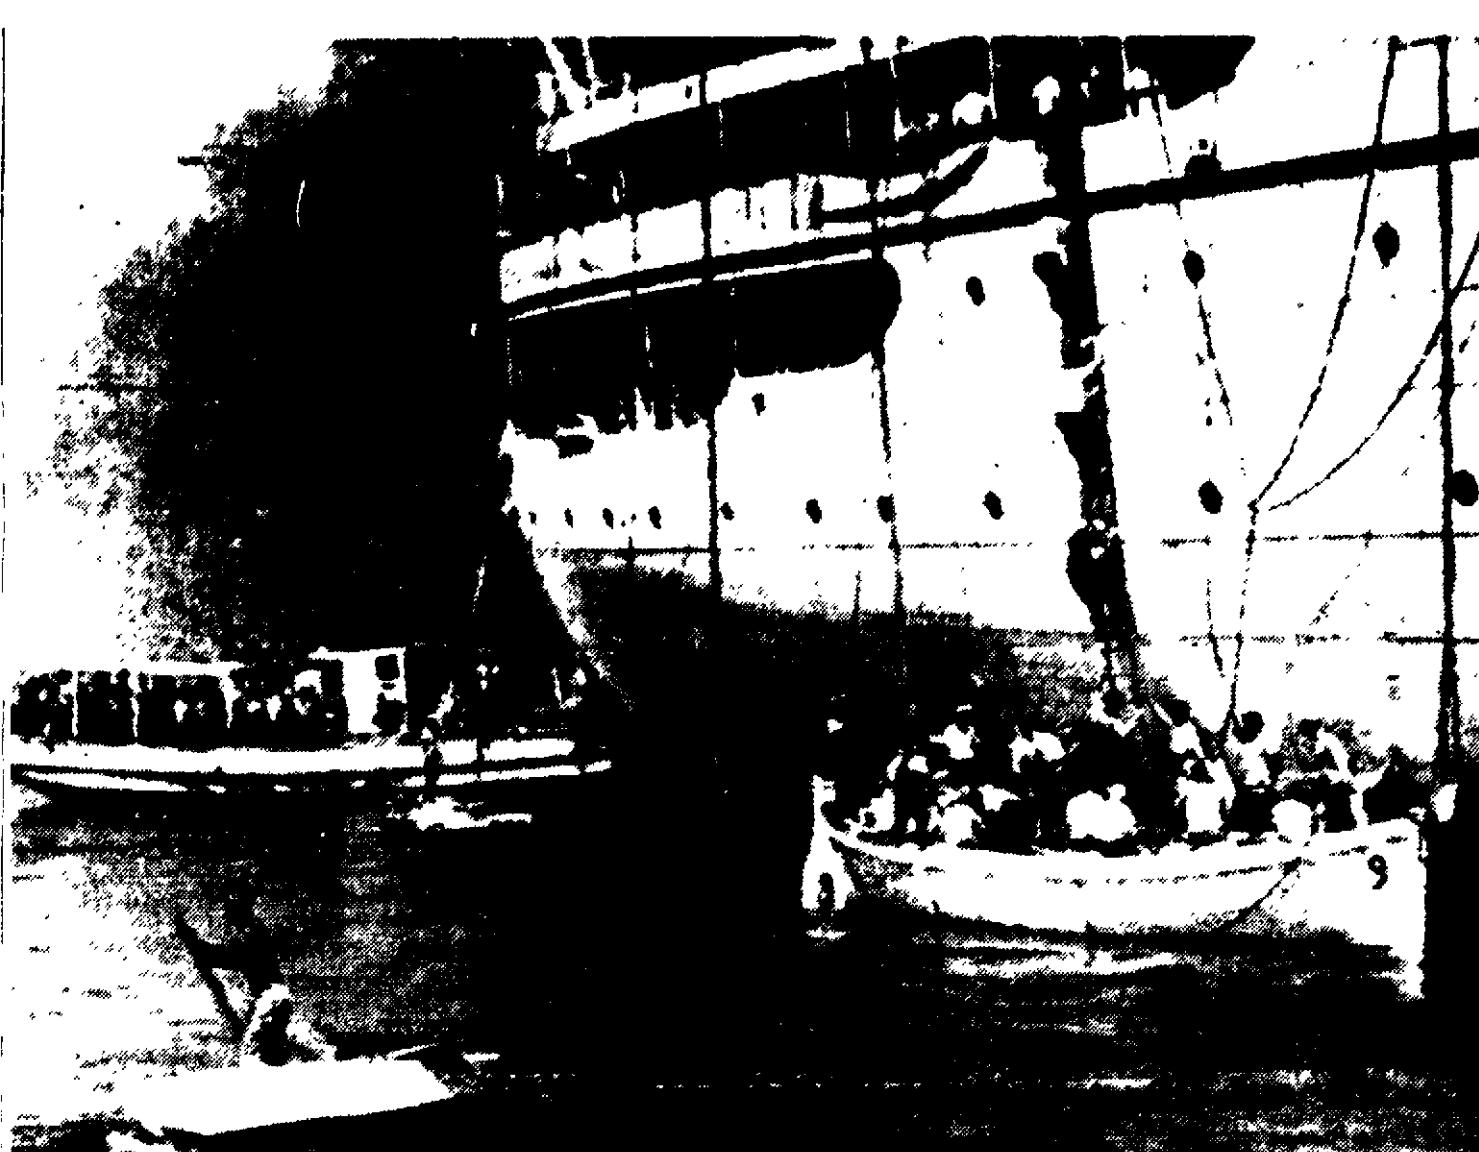

Communist sources said Chou definitely would return for the windup of the congress this week, but Peking radio in announcing his arrival in the Chinese capital said nothing about a return to Moscow.

Khrushchev bade Chou farewell at the airport in an obvious attempt to maintain an outward air of harmony. Chou was met at his home airport by Mao, President Liu Shao-chi and other top officials. Peking radio said central Pacific Sunday with what Tass called "a high degree of accuracy." It was the sixth shot announced in the series.

Here's How Nelson Would Tax Purchases, Services

- Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
- MADISON — Gov. Nelson's selective sales tax proposal submitted to legislators of both political parties Monday would produce $50,000,000 a year for local property tax relief by a 3 per cent levy on the purchase of the following items and services:
1. Alcoholic beverages and tobacco $9 million
  2. New furniture and appliances $10 million
  3. Toilet articles and preparations $2 million
  4. Autos, less trade-in value, $14 million
  5. Transient overnight accommodations $2 million
  6. Radios, TV's, musical instruments $3 million
  7. Restaurant meals over $1.00 $5 million
  8. Admissions $2 million
  9. Sports equipment $3 million
- The governor said that from 5 to 10 per cent of the total levies would be paid by tourists and other non-residents, or from $2.5 to $5 million.

An Engine Room explosion which started a fire and caused passengers to abandon the Italian liner Bianca C anchored in St. George's Harbor, Grenada, British West Indies, last weekend. There were two deaths among the 669 passengers and crew. There was no hope of salvaging the ship.

British West Indies, last weekend. There were two deaths among the 669 passengers and crew. There was no hope of salvaging the ship.

GOP Leaders Skeptical Of Nelson's Tax Plan

Democratic state convention decision against any sales taxation — is doubtful, at best.

Huber said "Many of us Democrats realize that the governor has the unpleasant task of seeking agreement with the Republicans on general sales tax supporters, but the Democrats will continue to resist those GOP efforts to walk away from progressive taxation."

See Little Support
But Huber's statement strongly suggested that hope for substantial Democratic support — especially in view of the recent necessities. On this there can be no compromise," he added.

Several Democrats said privately that Nelson would not be able to get as many as half of the Democrats in the senate and assembly to follow his proposal for a selective sales tax.

Republicans said privately that unless the governor can get such support from his own party legislators, there will be only the faintest chance to attract Republicans into his camp — and away from their own original tax revision bill that was keyed to a broader sales tax, with income tax credits, and a stabilization of the income tax rates, which Nelson vetoed in August.

Election Issue
Thus Nelson's publicly expressed hope for bi-partisan backing parted to fulfill a previous engagement in New York. The afternoon session, with Panzer holding ing the gavel, was largely confined to questions by the legislature and answers from Nelson's staff and department of taxation officials.

Republicans showed their reservations about some of the financial calculations in Nelson's bill when they arranged for Prof. W. D. Knight of the University of Wisconsin School of Commerce and Dr. C. K. Alexander of the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance to review the computations before the legislature reconvenes next week. They are to submit their reports for use in the Republican caucus discussions.

Draheim probably anticipated a Republican attack when he asked for an analysis of the impact of the governor's plan upon typical Wisconsin families in various income brackets.

Some legislators apparently believe that the effect of increasing individual income tax rates by one-half of one per cent in each bracket, plus the elimination of federal tax payment deductibility, and the 3 per cent levy on nine categories of consumer purchases would be more regressive than their original plan. It would have provided for a 3 per cent general sales tax with a $400 per person exemption by way of income tax credits or refunds.

Republicans also objected to some of the tax proposals in detail. Assemblyman Alfonso of Vilas county complained that the proposal to tax all restaurant meals priced at a dollar or more would be unenforceable from an auditing standpoint. Tax Commissioner John Gronouski said he doesn't know how it will be done, but that he has a "good staff and amiably."

The Republican legislative majority is not likely to take a firm position on Nelson's proposal until sometime next week, and possibly not until after a hearing is held on the Nelson bill.

Will Introduce Bill
Draheim and Everett Bidwell of the legislative finance committee gave assurances that the governor's bill will be introduced, but made it clear that the introduction by their Republican-controlled committee cannot be construed as support.

It appears certain that groups that campaigned for tax revision by way of a straight general balance this year's state budget deficit would require a one-half governor's compromise.

Mo-Ski-Tow Hill Ski Club Kicks off Season at Gala 'Roaring 20s' Party Saturday

Tuesday, October 24, 1961 Appleton Post-Crescent A10

The False Eyelashes of Mrs. Kenneth Masaros, Little Chute, seem to intrigue Charles Sauter, Appleton. Also interested are Toni Schmirler, Appleton, and Jim Gruenwald, Black Creek. At right, visiting between the "floor show" acts are Del Beno, Edward Macklin, Mrs. Beno and Mrs. Macklin, all of New London, and Mr. and Mrs. Ole Mead, Fremont.

A "Roaring 20s" party was held by Mo-Ski-Tow Hill Ski Club Saturday evening at New London Country Club. Whether or not the group prayed for an early snow fall or just a snow fall is unknown, but it might not have been such a bad idea.

Entertainment

The evening's entertainment included a chorus line and a performance by a barbershop quartet under the direction of Fred Heinemann, Appleton. Miss Janis Rowan was mistress of ceremonies for the chorus line.

John Myhr was general chairman. Committee members were Edward Macklin, Miss Rowan, Fred Heinemann, Mrs. Robert Follette, Oshkosh, and Mrs. Kenneth Masaros.

Board members, from whom tickets for the skiing season may be purchased, are Edward Macklin, Charles Dorsey, Vic Beckman, Edwin Knappstein, Dr. George Copp, George Kubisiak, Fred Heinemann, John Myhr, Miss Rowan, Mrs. Donald Leith, Vince Derscheid, Jim Gruenwald, Ole Mead, Glen Mann and Robert Follette.

Sigrid Muehlhauer, Sturgeon Bay, and Fred Heinemann, Appleton, vice president, purchase tickets for the party from Judy Pfankuch, Menasha, and George Kubisiak, New London, president of Mo-Ski-Tow Hill Ski Club. A "Roaring 20s" theme prevailed throughout the evening at New London Country Club.

A "Stonemo Chicken Feed" song and dance number was executed by Sandra Nixon and Judy Dixon, Neenah residents, at Saturday's party for Mo-Ski-Tow Hill Ski Club members and guests. Below, Miss Janis Rowan, mistress of ceremonies, introduces the "Roaring 20s" chorus line composed of Miss Jo DuFrane, Neenah, Miss Leah Biessman, Appleton, and Miss Marilyn Buech, Appleton.

Baby Sitter Retaliates Against Woman Who Made Complaint

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a member of the "modern institution called Sitters." But I certainly do not consider myself an irresponsible, morose, hollow-headed, impudent, vacuum cleaner with teeth."

I know exactly the type of woman who would complain. She is the one who greets the sitter at the door and tells her to "feed the kids something and put them in bed when they look tired." When she is half out the door she remembers that "Susie is next door and Debbie is out in the neighborhood someplace."

When you go the kitchen you find the sink filled with dirty dishes. You have to wash plates to give the children their supper. Why she worries about a sitter eating her out of house and home, I wouldn't know, because there's nothing much in her refrigerator.

She forgets to leave a calling number and if you needed her in an emergency it would be just too bad.

She promises to be home by midnight, but something always happens to detain her until 2:30 — or later. When she goes to pay you she discovers she has nothing smaller than a $20 bill so she owes you till next time.

And these are the women who complain the loudest about sitters. — Full Up she explained that her family is rather small and that most of the people on the list are her husband's customers.

We hate to have trouble at the outset, but we can't afford dinner for a crowd like this. What shall we do? —Distressed

Dear Distressed: You are paying for the dinner and it is your prerogative to decide how far you want to go.

Since these people wish to use the wedding as a business booster suggest they give a reception after the honeymoon. They can then invite the whole town if they wish.

For now, explain that their list must be pared to 55 — which gives them ten more than you have.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please print your opinion of a woman who is past 40 years of age and is still wearing her high school class ring? She wears her wedding band and diamond ring on one hand and the class ring on the other.

I say this is just plain corny. What do you say? —One of the Gang

Dear One: It doesn't bother me a bit. Why are you so exercised?

Apparently this woman attaches a great deal of sentiment to her class ring, which strikes me as a pretty good reason for wearing it.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Newlyweds Honeymoon In Canada

Miss Marilyn Daun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Daun, Stockbridge, became the bride of Wayne Schwobe, Chilton, during a 10 a. m. nuptial high mass Wednesday at St. Mary Catholic Church, Stockbridge. The Rev. William Willinger officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride selected Miss Sandra Penning, Stockbridge, as her honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Schwobe and Miss Ruth Mueller, Chilton, cousins of the bridegroom, and Miss Mary Halbach, Johnsburg, a cousin of the bride. Serving as junior bride and the flower girl was Miss Kathy Eichmeier, Hollandtown, cousin of the bride.

Best man for his friend was Ralph Karls, Chilton. Groomsmen were Robert Schwobe, Chilton, the bridegroom's cousin, Richard Daun, Stockbridge, and Eugene Denzel, Brillion, cousins of the bride. The bride's brother, Dennis, was ring bearer.

Ushering duties were performed by Ronald Denzel, Kaukauna, cousin of the bride, and Donald Schwobe, Chilton, the bridegroom's cousin.

The wedding dinner, reception and dance were at Van Able's Restaurant, Hollandtown.

After a northern Wisconsin and Canadian honeymoon, the newlyweds will live at rural Stockbridge. The bride is a Stockbridge High School graduate and is a nurse's aid at Calumet Memorial Hospital, Chilton. The bridegroom graduated from Chilton High School and is employed at Chilton Metal Product Co.

Cooperation Key To Family Unity

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Dad, can I have the car to go to the store?" "Ask your mother." "Oh, that's why I asked you. She'll say no. She always does. Can I dad?" "You'll have to ask your mother."

"All right, but I know she'll say no." "Mom, Dad told me to ask you if I can have the car to go to the store."

"He did? You know you do not use the car during the school week. Why do you ask me when you know how I feel about it? Your marks are not all they should be, yet you'd skip your homework or skimp on it and go out, instead of studying and getting to bed on time and being ready for a good day's work in school. I don't understand you."

It is not fair to play off one parent against another. It takes both to bring up a family. The children must know that the rules and arrangements made for them are made by both parents and upheld by them. They are not to get the idea that one parent is kind while the other is a mean old spoilsport. That is one sure way of spoiling a home and weakening the character of the children.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

When does baby go on a 3-square-a-day schedule? Usually between 6 and 8 months, depending on your doctor's advice and baby's readiness. Things to remember when you start this new baby routine:

- A 3-meal schedule means a gap of 4 or 5 hours between meals. You can help baby "wait it out" by giving him his Gerber Juice at midmorning — a Gerber Teething Biscuit at mid-afternoon.
- Reasonable regularity is important, but you don't have to be a complete slave to the clock.

Variety is especially important now to keep baby interested in his meals. Gerber offers over 50 delicious varieties for your baby's eating pleasure and nutritional well-being. All are specially prepared to preserve the utmost in flavor and nutritive values. Typical Gerber menus for a day in the life of your baby:

Breakfast: Rice Cereal or Oatmeal • Egg Yolk • Milk

Lunch: Beef or Chicken • Squash • Orange Pudding • Milk

Dinner: Ham or Turkey High Meat Dinner • Peaches • Milk

Variety is also important because it exposes baby to the many different foods that help establish good eating habits. And, if baby should balk at one food or another, Gerber offers any number of alternate choices with similar nutritive values. For example: Squash can be substituted for Sweet Potatoes • Chicken Noodle Dinner for Macaroni, Tomato, Beef and Bacon.

Point to remember: Little appetites usually fare better if you serve small portions ... and if the mealtime atmosphere is smiling, untroubled and unworried. And you appetite to both baby and you. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

GOLD MEDAL'S BREAD BOARD BY Betty Crocker

DELICIOUS HOT OR COLD!

You know, it's always seemed to me that bread baking is the most creative kitchen experience of any. Feeling the yeast dough come to life as you knead it, satiny and elastic under your fingertips ... sneaking an irresistible peek as the loaf puffs up ... up ... up ... watching the butter soak into that first warm slice ... wonderful! And best of all, that divine smell that drifts out of the kitchen and fills the whole house! It gives you a homey and contented feeling.

And contrary to what some of you may think, it's easy to bake bread. The first happy rule is—relax! Just let the recipe think for you. Most of the "work" involved is done by the yeast dough, not you. And bread baking is uniquely satisfying. Once you've tried a single loaf of your own, you'll never be quite happy settling for anything else.

For instance, here's one of my favorites—an authentic "holiday bread" from abroad. We've made the recipe simpler and clearer, while still keeping the original delicious flavor and texture. It's a glorious rich bread filled with honey and raisins, to make with Gold Medal flour—and baked ... of all things ... in an iron skillet!

Roll into an oblong, 20 x 8". Spread Filling (recipe below) to within 1" of edge. Roll up, beginning at wide side. Seal well by pinching edge of dough into roll. Elongate roll by slightly stretching and shaping it even. Coil it into a huge snail to fit into a greased heavy 10" skillet. Again let rise until impression remains when dough is touched gently with finger, 45 to 55 min. Brush with Egg Glaze (mix 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten, and 1/2 cup water). Sprinkle crushed loaf sugar and cut-up blanched almonds over the top. Heat oven to 350° (mod.). Bake 45 to 50 min., until well browned. If top browns too fast, cover with brown paper the last 25 min. of baking. Serve warm.

FILLING

- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup cream
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 cup finely chopped nuts
- 1 1/2 cups cut-up raisins

Mix all ingredients and cook 1 min. Cool.

P.S. Start discovering the joys of bread baking right today! Send for my new free booklet, "Yeast Breads Plain and Fancy." Just drop a card to Betty Crocker, Box 88, Minneapolis 60, Minnesota and ask for your copy. They're all delicious breads we've developed and tested for you right here in our Betty Crocker Kitchens—all even simpler and surer to succeed when you use Better-For-Bread Gold Medal—the high protein flour that's so uniform, so dependable you get beautiful bakings without fussing. Just use it straight from the sack—cup for cup, unsifted—in any recipe, new or old.

Look for this glamorous recipe—coming soon. A lovely specialty sweet bread, very chic, very French—lightly flavored bread; knead until smooth and elastic (about 5 min.) in a bakery window; French Roll up in greased bowl, bring COFFEE LACE.

OLD VIENNA HOLIDAY WHIRL

- 1/2 cup warm water (not hot—110 to 115°)
- 2 pkg. active dry yeast
- 1/2 cup lukewarm milk (scalded then cooled)
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup soft shortening
- 4 1/2 to 5 cups unbleached Gold Medal Flour

*To measure flour, dip nested dry measuring cups into flour, level off with straight-edged spatula.

In mixing bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water. Add milk, sugar, salt, egg, shortening and half of flour. Mix with spoon until smooth. Add enough remaining flour to handle easily; mix with hand. Turn onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic (about 5 min.). Round up in greased bowl, bring

Sheinwold Expert Play Outlined on Tablecloth

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Some of the best bridge plays are made on a tablecloth. You go out for a bite after a session of bridge and somebody scribbles a bridge hand on the tablecloth while you're biting.

Today's hand was written on a tablecloth just a few inches north of a broiled lobster. Maybe that's why it wasn't counted in the official score of the tournament.

"I opened the jack of hearts," said the man with the pencil.

We all nodded and munched away.

"I won the next trick with the king of spades," he continued.

We nodded again.

"What should I lead now?" he asked.

Easy Answer

This was easy. "Lead a diamond, of course," said the man with the lamb chops.

two diamond tricks before declarer can draw trumps and run the clubs. The only hope is to get one spade, one club and two diamonds.

"You can't lead the deuce of diamonds," said the man with the pencil. "Dummy plays low, and the queen loses to the ace. Now you can get only one diamond trick."

We all nodded once more.

"You have to lead the 10 of diamonds," he continued, shaking the pencil at the mashed potatoes. "Now you're sure of two diamond tricks no matter whether he puts up the jack or plays low from the dummy."

Perfectly true, of course. It's like leading the jack from K-J-9 through dummy's queen. The idea is to trap dummy's high card and preserve your own tenace over declarer's high card.

When the play becomes familiar and easy you can make it at the bridge table with the actual cards — instead of on a tablecloth with a pencil.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold S-A-Q-9-8-5, H-Q-6, D-A-9-7, C-9-7-3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade. You have only 12 points in high cards, but it would be a shame to pass with so fine a spade suit. Borderline spade hands are worth a bid.

Legion Post Sets Veterans Dinner

STOCKBRIDGE — A Veterans dinner Nov. 11 is being planned by the Stockbridge American Legion Post and its auxiliary unit. The event will be held in the Odd Fellows Hall beginning at 7:30 p.m.

All members of both organizations, their husbands and wives have been invited.

Planning is being carried out by the Auxiliary women. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. Barbara Vanden Boorn, Mrs. Mildred Ortleib, Mrs. Betty Leifer and Mrs. Dorothy Zahring.

Aid Meets

HILBERT — The St. Peter Lutheran Ladies Aid heard spiritual adviser, the Rev. Martin Schneider, speak on "The Invitation to the Wedding Feast" at their monthly meeting.

Dear Henry: We have three pre-school children. They are usually playing happily outdoors and when it is time for meals I have a hard time to collect them and make them eat together at the table. They troop in then an hour or two later half starved, which upsets my schedule and gives me more work. Have you any idea of a quick way to round them up? — Collecting.

Dear Collecting: I was going to suggest not to give any meals when your kids come late, but since mothers are usually "gotties" and do not carry out threats here is another advice. Buy a cow bell and ring it before each meal. Tell your children that the first one in will get an extra helping of dessert. If they complain about not hearing the bell, buy a siren.

Dear Henry: My brother is always beating me up. Do you think I should throw a chair at him in self-defense? — Reaching for the Chair.

Dear Reaching for the Chair: You better put down the chair and take judo lessons or your parents will reach for the strap after your brother reaches the hospital.

Dea Henry: My son will only brush his teeth before going to bed. Do you think this is enough for child's teeth? — Wondering.

Dear Wondering: For the kids brushing once is more than enough, but for their teeth it is not. If kids don't want a dentist's drill rattling their spine they better wash their teeth after every meal.

Dear Henry: Most of our neighbors have bigger houses and nicer cars than ours. When our two children were small it didn't bother them. But now they are nine and ten and are quite conscious of it. Some of the neighbors' children don't make it easier for them and once I overheard some nasty remarks. How can I prevent my children being influenced by this? — Depressed Mother.

Dear Depressed Mother: Tell your children you don't have a big house and a car because you don't need one. The people with big houses and cars feel they need them. Tell your kids to ignore the smart aleks and their wisecracks.

Dear Henry: Do you think it is fair for me to have to wear my sister's dresses? She is fat and I am not. They fit funny. — Skinny.

Dear Skinny: Put on some weight.

ADVICE TO PARENTS by Henry

Dear Henry: We have three pre-school children. They are usually playing happily outdoors and when it is time for meals I have a hard time to collect them and make them eat together at the table. They troop in then an hour or two later half starved, which upsets my schedule and gives me more work. Have you any idea of a quick way to round them up? — Collecting.

Dear Collecting: I was going to suggest not to give any meals when your kids come late, but since mothers are usually "gotties" and do not carry out threats here is another advice. Buy a cow bell and ring it before each meal. Tell your children that the first one in will get an extra helping of dessert. If they complain about not hearing the bell, buy a siren.

Dear Henry: My brother is always beating me up. Do you think I should throw a chair at him in self-defense? — Reaching for the Chair.

Dear Reaching for the Chair: You better put down the chair and take judo lessons or your parents will reach for the strap after your brother reaches the hospital.

Dea Henry: My son will only brush his teeth before going to bed. Do you think this is enough for child's teeth? — Wondering.

Dear Wondering: For the kids brushing once is more than enough, but for their teeth it is not. If kids don't want a dentist's drill rattling their spine they better wash their teeth after every meal.

Dear Henry: Most of our neighbors have bigger houses and nicer cars than ours. When our two children were small it didn't bother them. But now they are nine and ten and are quite conscious of it. Some of the neighbors' children don't make it easier for them and once I overheard some nasty remarks. How can I prevent my children being influenced by this? — Depressed Mother.

Dear Depressed Mother: Tell your children you don't have a big house and a car because you don't need one. The people with big houses and cars feel they need them. Tell your kids to ignore the smart aleks and their wisecracks.

Dear Henry: Do you think it is fair for me to have to wear my sister's dresses? She is fat and I am not. They fit funny. — Skinny.

Dear Skinny: Put on some weight.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

HOW CAN A TEACHER SPOT A POTENTIAL TRUANT IN HER ROOM?

YOUR OPINION

2. WOULD MORE MONEY SOLVE YOUR FINANCIAL PROBLEMS?

YES NO

The signs are not hard to distinguish. A child who has tendencies to bolt from school has a history of sporadic absences for more, rather than less, financial vague reasons. He cries easily, difficulties. Lots of families find has unreasonable fears, is timid, that for every dollar their in-shy, withdraws from the other come rises, they spend two more This is not the way to get ahead. To escape "It" they may run in as wide an arc as they wish, even wider than that shown by the dotted line in Figure 1, but no matter how far they go to the right or left the strip is still enemy territory and they may be tagged while in it. If one player is tagged, he becomes "It" and the former "It" takes his place in the line.

The runners may not shake hands unless they are in the enemy territory, at any spot such as that marked X in Figure 1. After shaking hands (which is done on the fly, of course, A runs to the place a comes from and B to the place from which A came.)

As soon as A and a shake corresponding circles in the opposite line marked identically, but enemy territory and shake hands with small letters. In each line there is an A, a B, a C and so hands, the next pair starts. The fourth, but they are not opposite faster the game is played. The other.

The enemy territory is a space

A Cavalier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Ideal Figure

Doubleless you are aware of fig-average in size. For a small or less curve. But do you know by how many inches?

Unless you are sure, correction becomes a chancey affair.

Your model bust measurement is the same as your hips. Your waist should be 10 inches less.

3. Measure yourself and compare. Then there can be no doubt as to the spots in need of increases and decreases.

Pocket Calorie Counter

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our new booklet, Pocket Calorie Counter, tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan a way to eat and slim. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

You might exercise like mad to trim your hips, for example, when for ideal proportions you should be building up your waist or chest. A too-tiny waist makes even a neat hip look outsized; overlarge hips cause any bosomline to appear under-privileged.

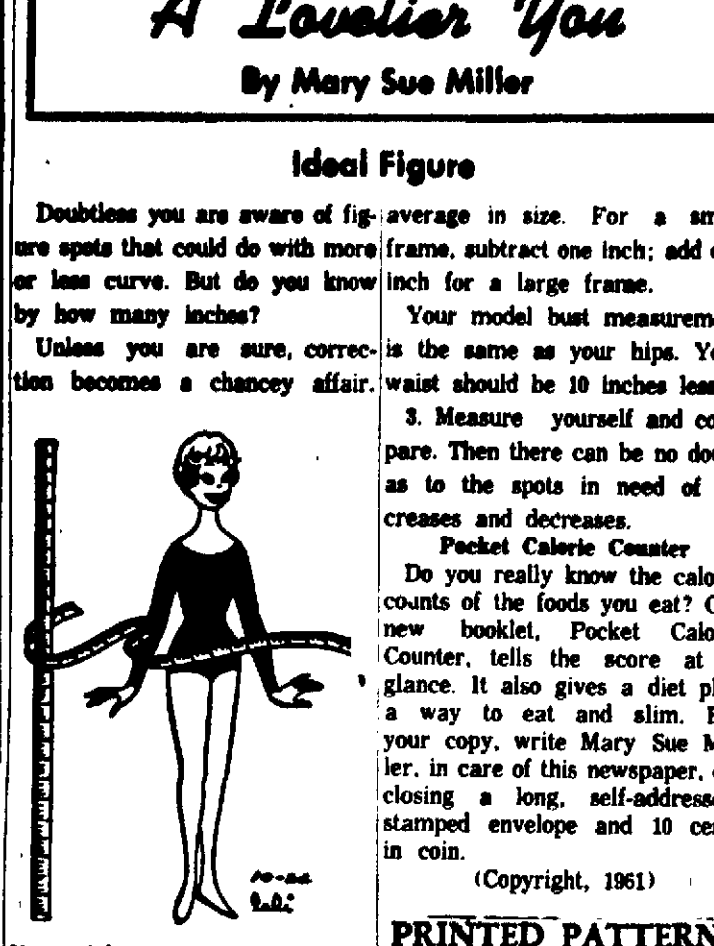

So before making figure changes, you had best know what your measurements should be. To get a clear picture, just take these steps:

1. Measure your height without shoes. Be accurate, for ideal proportions are based on individual height.

2. Find your height on the chart below, and note the hip measurement beneath it.

San Diego hasn't seen much of its Nisei daughter in the last 20 years, outside of energetic forays to the grocery.

First, she was off to school at Eastman; then she was one of Robert Shaw's leading sopranos in New York musical circles; then sang in Italy; finally two years ago she returned to America for her first teaching job at Potsdam, N. Y.

It was a lucky day when Mari Taniguchi decided to go east to school. For shortly thereafter Pearl Harbor was bombed and West Coast Isai and Nisei were herded into relocation camps for the duration of the war. Mari's father, a supplier of fishing equipment, had made several business trips to his native Japan, dancing classes in New York but most recently the summer before, on a Fulbright scholarship to live in the Milan, Italy.

He and she swept up early in the roundup. Her mother and brother were taken later. But Mari was scholarship ten minutes before the Japanese hysteria did not exist, changed the course of her life or so was able to pursue her college work.

Minister Asks For Active Support of U.N.

Rev. Schilling Says
All Should Work
And Pray for Peace

The Rev. Marvin Schilling made a plea for work for peace and called for active support of the United Nations in his sermon at the First Methodist Church Sunday. Today is the 16th anniversary of the UN. Although admitting that the United Nations

Rev. Schilling has not functioned perfectly nor achieved its objectives, he said. "It is one of our best hopes for peace and we need to help strengthen it so that through the UN we may move to a system by which law and order and peace may be achieved in the world."

The Rev. Mr. Schilling said it was imperative to stop the arms race because the kind of peace we have today is based on terror and fear.

Jungle of Weaponry
This has brought us into "the jungle of the weaponry of annihilation," he said. "We must find our way out as our very survival depends now upon peace."

The high defense spending brings "only the security of fear and mistrust," the pastor said. Our only defense against this kind of weaponry is not to have it ever used."

He added that the arms race presents a real possibility of an accidentally triggered nuclear war, as a result of either human or mechanical failure.

Support UN
Active support for the United Nations is an important step for peace, he said.

The Rev. Mr. Schilling said peace must become a personal priority for each one of us, as believers of God and followers of the Prince of Peace. "We must lead, write, speak and pray for peace in these troubled times," he said.

"We can read for peace," he continued. "This means make an effort to become familiar with the issues, know the stand of our own church on the major problems of international affairs."

Write For Peace
"We can write for peace. Not high, but it is precisely at such a time that witness of peace is also letters to our national leaders — to those who represent us in government, expressing our views. The bill to create a disarmament agency in Washington was passed because concerned people wrote letters and sent telegrams, expressing their views. "We can speak for peace. # Safety League to Observe 25th Anniversary at Brillion

BRILLION — The Eastern Wisconsin Safety League will observe its 25th anniversary Saturday in the same city where the league was organized Nov. 18, 1936.

About 300 volunteer firemen will attend the celebration, which will begin with a parade at 6 p.m. The parade will assemble at city hall and proceed to the city park where a barbecued chicken dinner will be served. Included in the parade will be Smokey the Bear, the local band and firemen from the several units represented.

William Clark, Madison, director of vocational education who has supervised firemanshp training in the state and edited several training manuals, will be a speaker. Fire Chief John Pavlik, West Milwaukee, will also talk.

The program and banquet arrangements are being made by the Firemen's Association.

This is not always easy. In times of crisis, public feelings run high, but it is precisely at such a time that witness of peace is also letters to our national leaders — to those who represent us in government, expressing our views. ## Board Refuses Request to Drop Tuition

The Board of Education Monday refused the request of a former Appleton student to attend the Appleton public schools without paying tuition.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Glassnap, 527 Chain Drive, requested that their daughter Elaine be permitted to attend the schools without paying tuition. She is living with an aunt in Appleton.

Board policy has been to refuse requests for elimination of the tuition requirements for students whose parents do not have a legal residence in the Appleton school district.

Mrs. Myrl Davis, president of the board, said that in the past the board felt it necessary to refuse such cases, although they might have personal sympathy for them. Because they did not feel they could ask Appleton taxpayers to take on this responsibility.

Fire in Ventilator

Appleton firemen were called to the Scolding Locks Corp., 1520 W. Rogers Ave., at 8:17 p.m. when the residue in a ventilator pipe caught fire. The fire was out when firemen arrived.

Athletic Association Will Sponsor Dance

LITTLE CHUTE — The St. John High School Athletic Association will sponsor a parish dance from 9 to 1 p.m. Wednesday in the grade school gymnasium.

Tickets are available from members of the association or at the door. Admission will be $1.50 per couple, and proceeds will be used to promote athletic activities.

WANT ADS are for EVERYBODY

How many jobs does a busy young mother fill? I have never had time to count them, but I am very much aware that some of them are more important than others, and one of the most important is making every dollar in the budget stretch as far as it can. So I do a lot of my own sewing, I shop hard for bargains, and I read the Want Ads faithfully. To me the Want Ad pages are just like a big department store where it is easy to find many of our family needs. And from time to time I run an ad myself. It is a quick, low cost way to sell items which we no longer need.

Town of Menasha Postpones Sewage Plant Bid Awards

State Requests Delay So Talks Could be Held on Area Systems

MENASHA — At the request of the State Board of Health, the Town of Menasha Board Monday night postponed awarding contracts for its sewage disposal plant and interceptor sewer system until later this week.

The State Board of Health asked the postponement so that it could discuss the sewage disposal systems for the entire area at meetings Tuesday afternoon with Neenah and Menasha city officials and the joint sewerage commission and Tuesday night with the Town Board.

Pedestrian, Cyclist Hurt In Accidents

NEENAH — Two persons were injured in separate accidents on N. Commercial Street Monday afternoon and evening, one of them, Mrs. George Grueder, route 1, Neenah, being confined to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital overnight.

She was crossing W. Canal Street in the crosswalk at 225 p. m. Monday when she and a car driven by Thomas F. Werbelow, 19, 813 DePere St., Menasha, collided. He was turning left from N. Commercial Street onto W. Canal Street and told police he did not see her.

She received multiple contusions of the right arm, both hips and the left rear of her head. X-rays were taken to determine if there were any additional injuries.

Cyclist Hurt

Joseph Managhan, 67, 215 W. Doty Ave., received injuries on the left hand and leg and was advised to see a physician after his bicycle and a car driven by Harry E. Huff, 68, 327 Center St., collided at the intersection of N. Commercial Street and Forest Avenue at 7:17 p. m. Monday.

Huff was turning left onto N. Commercial Street from W. Forest Avenue and said oncoming bright lights made it difficult for him to see the bicyclist. The bicycle did not have a light on it.

Cars driven by Mrs. Leona Maierhafer, 512 Ninth St., Menasha, and Edward D. Chnaga, Oconomowoc, were damaged in an accident at the Wisconsin Avenue and Commercial Street intersection at 1:08 p. m. Monday. He was headed north and making a left turn onto W. Wisconsin Avenue and had stopped for a pedestrian when his car was struck by the southbound Maierhafer car.

Deer Hunting Contest Set for Thilco Workers

KAUKAUNA—Plans have been announced for the annual Thilco Pulp and Paper Co. deer hunting contest with Norbert Gerend to serve as contest committee chairman.

Merchandise certificates amounting to $70 will be awarded the winners. The largest buck dressed weight will result in a $25 prize, second will be $20 and the smallest will be $10. The man who downs a buck with the widest rack of horns will win $15.

Entries are to be weighed at Benotch Fuel and Supply Co., of 300.316,000, or $1.79 per share, the equivalent period of 1960. Total sales for the first nine months of 1961 were $36,354,000, or $2.16 per share compared with earnings of $30,316,000, or $1.79 per share, for the equivalent period of 1960. # Plenty to Do

Pacific Northwest Vacationers' Paradise for Off-Duty Guardsmen

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — Although members of Wisconsin's 32nd Infantry Division may not appreciate it for a while, the great Pacific Northwest where they will engage in combat training is a chance at the best deer and recreational paradise.

The men of the Red Army division and their families will have a wide choice of things to do and places to go during leisure off-duty hours.

FT. Lewis is set in the midst of the lush Nisqually plain, 135 square miles of spacious natural beauty skirting the southern reaches of Puget Sound.

On the post itself, a $500,000 athletic plant is the center for football and baseball stadiums of the many salt and fresh water and a superb track and field layout. Three major gymnasiums feature basketball courts, a swimming pool and three bowling alleys.

There's an 18-hole, par-72 golf course, horseback riding and gun clubs, flying for fun, and beach clubs for pleasure seeking soldiers, their wives and children.

A large variety of fish is stocked in lakes on the post. And there and also in salmon and steelhead fish in coastal waters.

Foundation Offers College Scholarships

NEENAH—American Can Co. Foundation has announced the offering of 14 scholarships to children of Canco employees and to employees who are under 30 years of age. The scholarship program includes Marathon Division employees.

Those eligible for the scholarships must be in the top third of their class and must not have begun their college careers. They must complete their high school education or its equivalent prior to Aug. 31, 1962.

Entry blanks must be submitted by Nov. 30 and the winners will be announced next spring. The employees must have five years of service with the company and its divisions prior to Sept. 1 and must have base earnings which do not exceed $850 a month.

Employees seeking the scholarships for themselves must have at least one year of service as of Sept. 1. The scholarships are for four years of college.

United Drive Needs Money

Red Feather Chief Says Some Can Contribute More

"One of the most discouraging things in the United Red Feather drive," said campaign chairman William McGraw Monday, "is in teachers is slightly more than one, contributions from families who can afford to pay their share which do not even cover the services they receive from Red Feather agencies in the course of a year."

For example, he said, if a family has several children in YMCA and Girl and Boy Scout programs, the deficit for services they receive would be about $40 a year. If they give $10, he said, their contribution does not cover services they use, let alone help families who cannot afford to pay for services themselves.

Many of the returns to date are encouraging, however, he added.

Campaign contributions have reached $85,094 at the second report meeting Thursday, just over the half way mark. The campaign goal is $165,853. The final report meeting is this Thursday from 5 to 5:30 p. m. at the YMCA.

Three firms have won plaque awards for outstanding performance by employees. They are the First National Bank of Appleton, the H. C. Prange Co., and the Elm Tree Bakery. To earn the award a firm must have contributions averaging "30 minutes a month" from 80 per cent of its employees.

American Can Reports Big Rise in Earnings

Earnings of the American Can Company for the nine-month period ending Sept. 30, 1961, were 20 per cent greater than for the comparable period in 1960, it was reported by William C. Stolk, chairman, and Roy J. Sund, president of the company.

Nine-month net earnings for 1961 were $36,354,000, or $2.16 per share compared with earnings of $30,316,000, or $1.79 per share, for the equivalent period of 1960.

Total sales for the first nine months of 1961 were $36,354,000, or $2.16 per share compared with earnings of $30,316,000, or $1.79 per share, for the equivalent period of 1960. # Diocese Has Nearly 50,000 In Schools

Increase of 10,055 Students, Twelve Schools Since 1956

Nearly 50,000 students are enrolled in Catholic grade schools and high schools in the Green Bay Diocese this fall, according to figures released by the Diocesan Department of Education.

Total enrollment for the current year is 49,846, showing an increase at a rate of 2,000 students per year for the past five years. Enrollment in the fall of 1956 was 39,791.

The greatest increase was in high school enrollment, jumping from 2,941 students in 1956 to 4,682 this fall. This is a result of the building of Xavier High School in Appleton and Lourdes High School in Oshkosh and the opening of the former Lourdes High School in Marinette as a Central Catholic High School.

There are 128 schools in operation in the diocese this year, 12 more than five years ago. St. Gabriel's School in Neenah was the only new school opened this year, with an enrollment of 437.

Twenty-six religious teachers (priests, sisters and brothers) and 40 lay teachers were added to school staffs this fall. The overall ratio of lay teachers to religious teachers is slightly more than one, with three in diocesan schools, with 937 religious and 348 lay teachers.

The increase in the number of lay teachers over the past five years has been most marked in the grade schools. The number of lay teachers has jumped from 128 to 276 in this period, while the number of sisters teaching in the grades has increased only by 301.

218 High School Teachers

In the diocesan high schools there are 150 religious teachers, with 83 sisters and 67 priests and brothers, and 68 lay teachers.

Brown County parochial schools have the highest elementary school enrollment, with 13,763. Outagamie County is second with 9,413. Winnebago County showed the greatest increase, because of the opening of St. Gabriel's School, with enrollment rising from 5,358 last year to 5,813 this year.

There are a total of 1,285 teachers in the diocesan schools this year, as compared to 984 five years ago.

Annual Party For Halloween Set in Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — The recreation department in cooperation with the Modern Woodmen of America will sponsor a Halloween party for school age youngsters at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at the two city theaters.

Costumes will be judged, souvenirs and refreshments distributed, according to James Gertz, recreation director. Youngsters will be asked to sign pledge cards promising to respect property and cooperate with leaders.

These cards will serve as registration for the "witch wagon" game which follows the scheduled program. In this, youngsters receive a call at home within 30 minutes after the main program and if the child is home, a special major prize is awarded. Last year over 900 youngsters participated and more are expected this year, noted Gertz. Parents of the smaller children and if the child is home, a special major prize is awarded. Last year over 900 youngsters participated and more are expected this year, noted Gertz.

Area Chairman For Muscular Dystrophy Picked

KAUKAUNA—Mrs. Omar Wolfgram, Kaukauna, has been named chairman for the muscular dystrophy drive to get underway in Kaukauna and Kimberly Nov. 9.

Mrs. Wolfgram has appointed Mrs. William Glasheen and Mrs. Carl Pogrnt to assist with Kaukauna. Working in Kimberly are Mrs. Elmer Knehn and Mrs. Melvin Bunnow. Firemen will have the responsibility of distributing and collecting canisters in the city.

Drive leaders are currently lining up volunteer workers. A percentage of the money collected remains in the area to help persons afflicted with the disease while the remainder goes to the National Foundation for research.

State Aids Bolster Budget

Half Winnebago Income Comes From Wisconsin Monies

OSHKOSH—State aids will provide about half of the money needed to meet the $4.5 million proposed budget for Winnebago County for next year. Hearing on the budget will be Wednesday, Nov. 1.

The state aids are estimated at $2,248,569 toward the estimated costs of $4,495,451. The proposed tax levy is $1,577.498 with total revenues from sources other than the property tax being $2,917,952.

Income tax apportionment back to the county is estimated at $500,000 while another $90,000 is expected from the state utility tax return.

Winnebago County's allotment from the state for maintenance of the county trunk system is expected to be $265,500.

Welfare Help

Most of the state aid will be for institutional and welfare programs of the county. Grants from the state for the county hospital program will bring in an estimated $378,091, an increase of about $50,000.

Welfare aids will come to an estimated $873,660 while another $83,502 will come in for welfare administration costs.

Other aids are $10,104 for the handicapped schools aid, $30,712 for the guidance center, $15,000 for the supervising teachers and $1,000 for the county nurse.

Pays Forfeiture

NEENAH — Marvin G. Bartel, 40, 313 N. Commercial St., paid a forfeiture of $14.20 at the Neenah police station on a charge of drunkenness. He was arrested at 11:50 p. m. Oct. 7 on N. Commercial Street.

He participated and more are expected this year, noted Gertz. Parents of the smaller children and if the child is home, a special major prize is awarded. Last year over 900 youngsters participated and more are expected this year, noted Gertz.

Beautiful Performance

Italian Musicians Charm Concertgoers

BY DON VORPAREL

A supercharged Italian orchestra struck like lightning Monday night at Lawrence Memorial Chapel.

Renato Ruotolo's youthful Orchestra San Pietro of Naples deserves a place in the front-row of the Italian chamber orchestra corps. Their playing, their conductor, their demeanor were first-rate from their first note onward.

This little group of 19 string and wind musicians, organized by Ruotolo only in 1957, showed that it deserves to lay claim to all the connotations of musical Neapolitanism — the sparkling, embellished style, the vigor, the passion, the abandon, yet with a current of firm resolution and wisdom running underneath.

Everyone Pleased

Ruotolo already has welded his carefully chosen young people into a quite flawless musical body, which rises up to the heights and drops into sublime depths of captivating performance. Scarcely a handful of the season's first Artists Series crowd of around 1,000 persons left their places early.

There were no harried husbands here. A sweep around the resonant, reverberating chapel saw nothing but smiles and flash of applauding hands, while on the stage the suave Ruotolo and his players beamed their own appreciation.

The musicians responded to this lively audience with an extra effort. Ruotolo is an artist who spares little detail, and even at the intermission, when lesser musicians would seek unconcerned respites, the Naples group was hard at work, tuning, criticizing itself, preparing its next assault.

Played Hearts Out

The young musicians liked their audience and the auditorium. Greatly to their credit, they played their hearts out.

Beginning with the Cimarosa "Sinfonia" Li due baroni di Roccazzurra," their playing fit the vidual abilities.

In Haydn's "Sinfonia No. 44 in E Minor," came a new style. The nine violins were joined frequently in a unison tone which was rich, massive and vigorous. Even when muted, it never was stodgy.

The total picture may well have been the evening's best, especially in the lush Minuetto.

Rousing Finale

Their rousing, presto Finale put on the frosting. This soon was re- frosted by an absolutely overpowering "Passacaglia" of Respighi, from his famed setting of ancient women, whose ages average out to about 24 years, free rein in dynamic force. Their resultant tone was incredibly large, but not the strident.

Again, they reformed in encores in his car. Larry Beyer, 18, 161 with a Boccherini "Minuet" that Gruenwald Ave., Neenah, re- gave a final taste of the delicacy and nose and multiple contusions and abrasions. Sabee received contusions and abrasions of the scalp and floridity of Naples' musician-

Tentative Budgets Ask $4.53 Tax Hike

proposed budget and the tax levy it would require is that anticipated income from sources other than real estate and personal property taxes is down 2.8 per cent for 1962.

Income Down

Income from other sources this year totaled $3,136,357, while in 1961 it was $3,261,357. In 1962 it is expected the city will receive $3,048,455, a decrease of $87,902. Biggest reason for the decrease, Broehm said, is a sharp drop in the estimated general fund surplus this year.

He said the surplus last year totaled about $455,000, while this year it will be only about $300,000.

Much of the increase in the 1962 proposed budget and levy would go for the board of education request, which is up $319,367 from this year.

Other major increases are $58,128 for the public library, $42,636 for the park board, $65,700 for the fire department, $73,347 for the police department and $100,000 for storm sewers. There was nothing in the 1961 budget for storm sewers. All of them were paid for by a bond issue.

Okay Bookmobile

The library board succeeded Monday night, on its third try in two years, to get a bookmobile. Last year the board was turned down, but returned a few days later to make another plea. It was turned down again.

Monday night committeemen agreed a bookmobile should be purchased, and allowed $24,000 for the vehicle itself. The library board had asked for $41,000 for the unit, to equip it and staff it.

Committeemen based their decision on the fact the library board said it will take nine months to get the custom-made unit. They believed it will be March, 1962, before bids can be taken and a contract let. Thus the unit would arrive sometime in December, 1962, and the money for operating it could be put in the 1963 budget.

The committeemen's decision is identical to the second request made by the library board last year, when it asked for money for the unit in 1961 and operation funds in 1962.

Fire Department

The fire department budget request totaled $999,001, but $4,260 for merit raises was deleted.

The police department request was $462,982, but $18,720 was added for meter maid salaries and $1,200 for a clothing allowance for them. (Money for the meter maids is reimbursed to the police department budget from the parking meter revenue account.)

Both the police and fire departments want to add four more men.

Other budgets as approved by the committee are:

Street signs and guide board, $21,267, up nearly $3,000.

Parking meters, $19,499, down about $19,000 because the city has just about completed its meter replacement program.

Off-street parking lots $17,950, up about $7,500 mostly for meters for the proposed parking ramp.

Street lighting, $71,248, down about $20,000. (The 1961 budget had $32,000 in it for the ornamental lights on Wisconsin Avenue.)

Traffic control and regulator devices, $20,090, up less than $1,000.

Electrical inspectors $24,180, up about $4,000 mostly for a new truck and one new truck body.

Regional Planning

Regional planning, $16,067, no change. This will be the last payment on a three-year contract.

Goodwill advertising, $200, no change.

Group life insurance, $3,900, up $450.

Municipal retirement fund, $66,000, up $6,000, due to more employees and salary increases.

Health, accident and hospital insurance, $26,500, up $1,400.

Social Security, $30,500, up $4,500.

Workmen's compensation, $28,100, no change.

Appleton city band, $4,000, no change.

City picnic, $1,000, up $50.

Dog control, $3,000, no change.

Police pension fund, $11,400, up $600.

Fire Station

Fire Station No. 4, $43,531, up $3,531. (This account owes $40,000 to the parking meter revenue fund.)

for money borrowed to help pay for the new fire station.)

Postage, $3,250, no change.

Northwest sanitary sewer lift station site, $649, down nearly $5,000. (Construction of the station and payment for the land will be complete.)

School sites, $59,947, up $16,700, mostly for payments on two elementary and one junior high school sites.

Memorial Day, $1700, no change.

Flag day, $400, no change.

Microfilming of city records, $400, down $1,400. (Most records are microfilmed and the $400 is to keep them current.)

General insurance, $10,612, up $1,000.

Little League baseball, $800, no change.

Civil defense, $11,000, up $8,750. (The city is sharing in the cost of a siren warning system in case of attack or disaster.)

Tax rebates, $1,500, down $800.

Debt Payments

Interest on city debt, $270,187, down $13,000.

Principal payments on city debt, $676,000, up $26,000.

Elections, $10,915, down $1,000.

City clerk, $34,405, down $16,000. (Last year $20,000 was put in the budget for an electronic book-keeping machine.)

Mayor's office, $17,170, up less than $1,000.

City council $25,625, up $4,300. (Aldermen's salaries have been increased.)

Auditing and special accounting, $1,600, up $100.

Board of review, $386, no change.

Official printing, $13,000, down $1,000.

Hydrant rental, $102,500, up $10,300.

"We must confine our efforts this week to determining which are necessary and absolute must items," Ald. Alvin E. Tews, committee chairman told his group Monday night.

"Items which appear to be below this category should find it hard to survive these hearings. As representatives of the citizens of Appleton we are obliged to screen the budget conscientiously, conservatively and objectively," he said.

Menasha Sophs Masquerade for Annual Party

MENASHA — Sophomores at Menasha High School will masquerade as hillbillies tonight at the annual class party. Theme is "A Night in the Ozarks." Party hours are 7 to 10 p.m.

Committee co-chairmen are Betty Kulick and Russell Winters, refreshments; Sherry Kettelson and Mard Pawlowski, entertainment; Richard Grant and Marilyn Magalski, cleanup; and the class of officers, who are president, Keith Larson; vice president, Ann Drzewiecki; secretary, Lorraine Holeywinski, and treasurer, Sue Becker.

Class advisers who will chaperone will be Miss Bertha Bienfang, Miss Judith Gerrits, Charles Bruemmer, Mrs. Alberta Dover, Miss Isabel Schultz, Vernon Halverson, Harry Johnson, Frank Meyer, William Sense and Donald Wisniewski.

Permits Needed For Shelters

NEENAH — A building permit is necessary for construction of a fallout shelter of any kind. City Assessor Carlton Williams said today.

Issuance of a permit affords the city a chance to check the plans and specifications of the shelter, and learn whether it meets civil defense specifications.

He urged householders to be extremely careful before signing contracts with itinerant, out-of-town shelter salesmen for construction of fallout shelters.

He pointed out that citizens of Neenah have been deceived by unscrupulous, out-of-town chimney repair salesmen, and that the present boom in fallout shelter building offers a similar opportunity for fraudulent practices.

He was assisted by Richard Bishop, a city sanitarian. Two more sessions are scheduled for today.

Impromptu Celebration

Coeds, Italian Visitors Hold Gay Jam Session

BY DON VORPAHL

American foreign policy and the field of international relations got a big boost last night when the youthful members of the visiting Orchestra San Pietro of Naples and a host of young Lawrentians broke into a spontaneous "jam session" after a more formal reception.

Some pitifully bad "cha-cha-cha" and rag-time piano, pretty girls, handsome black-haired Italian gentlemen, and a gracious Union hostess added up to an hour of real hilarity. Mrs. Doris Towler, who permitted the young people to stay until midnight, said, "I couldn't possibly turn them out, we haven't had this happen for a long time, and it's certainly fun for everyone."

Coffee, Cookies

The session began even before the formal reception ended. Rena Rotolo and his 19 chamber orchestra musicians were asked to the Memorial Union for coffee and cookies, and to meet their audience. In a gay atmosphere, where few spoke French, but fewer spoke Italian, the students and musicians began fumbling with the language barrier.

Before long, little knots of Italians and Americans were engrossed in each others' feeble attempts, although notable success was had with French by a few particularly fortunate young ladies from Lawrence.

When the crowd left, someone declared, "It is extremely urgent that consolidation of those districts which expect to become part of the Neenah school system by July 1, 1962, should be accomplished at the earliest possible date."

Begin Action Now

"Policies regarding the above problem cannot be resolved until the districts involved have declared their interest by a request for attachment. In the interests of an orderly integration and an efficient school system, action should begin now."

State laws do not permit the board to begin the action. The rural school districts at their annual meetings last July approved consolidation with Neenah on a unified district plan.

The Neenah council must pass a resolution approving the unified plan before this can be accomplished, but a majority of the council, as well as the Neenah administration, is reported to be in favor of the joint school district plan.

Board members agreed that differences must be reconciled and an agreement as to the type of consolidation reached before any progress can be made in resolving policy problems.

Charles Kalbfell's Auto Plunges Down Road Embankment

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six traffic deaths, three of them in Milwaukee, raised Wisconsin's 1961 highway toll today to 714, compared with 697 a year ago.

Charles Kalbfell, 57, of Wautoma, was killed Monday when his car went out of control on a curve nine miles south of Weyauwega, left County Trunk A and plunged down a 150-foot embankment.

Five more highway deaths, three of them in Milwaukee, have raised Wisconsin's fatality toll for the year to 713, compared with a 697 a year ago today.

Mrs. Rose Ostrander, 51, of Milwaukee died Monday night of a broken neck suffered when she was struck by a car on the West Side. The woman was identified by a son today.

Wisconsin '11' Faces An Immense Task

Has Beaten OSU Once Since 1946

MADISON (AP) — There are yardsticks aplenty for measuring the immensity of the task facing the Wisconsin football team when it celebrates homecoming Saturday by meeting Ohio State in a nationally televised game.

The Badgers have beaten OSU only once since 1946, winning 13-3 in 1950. And in the series between the schools, Ohio State has a 19-7-4 edge.

Add to this the fact that Wisconsin has lost four of the last six games before the old grid, including last year's 21-0 whipping by Northwestern and then dust in a bit of the television record. That shows that the Badgers were beaten in four of their last five video appearances, managing to defeat Minnesota 11-7 in 1956 to take the Big Ten championship.

Coach Milt Bruhn said Monday that 11 players nursed hurts that kept them out of the day's drills. The lumps and bumps were accumulated in Saturday's 47-15 licking by Iowa.

Limited Contact
Those who were able joined in an offensive drill which included limited contact. There was scrimmage against the freshmen for reserves who saw only restricted duty at Iowa City.

Bruhn also said he had relaxed a bit his ban against the players seeing movies of the Iowa game. "We told them they would have a chance to see the movie later in the week if they wanted to," the coach said.

As he began preparations for the homecoming, Bruhn said Ohio State "is the type of team that can hurt us physically. With fine blocking ends and backs, the Buckeyes can knock us out of an area like Iowa did to our left side."

The pride of the Ohio State attack is 227-pound fullback Bob Ferguson.

The Buckeye workhorse, who will carry the ball more often than not, showed Saturday he changed his style by gaining 157 yards on 24 carries against Northwestern.

Bruhn said that Ferguson is a strong runner and more of a threat because of the blocking provided by the Buckeyes.

"Then the Buckeyes can hit in the same place with Ferguson blocking and a halfback running," Bruhn said.

This does not provide an optimistic picture. But last year a similar band of Badger cripples held Ohio State about even for three quarters. Bruhn and his gang will be trying for four this Saturday.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ron Horn, the St. Louis Hawks' No. 2 choice in the National Basketball Association draft, suffered a broken bone in his right hand Monday when a car door accidentally slammed shut on it.

Title Not Clinched, Says Xavier's Clark

Commends Hawk Defense in Crucial Win Over Cadets

BY RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Coach Gene "Torchy" Clark gave his Xavier High School football team the day off Monday after they had cleared the toughest hurdle in their route to the 1961 Fox Valley Catholic Conference grid crown.

The Hawks defeated Premontre Saturday, 23-16, to keep their unbeaten record intact, and they now rest at the top of the conference standings.

The modest coach quickly silenced any thought of having the title clinched as he pointed to the two remaining games on the schedule — against Oshkosh Lourdes and Fond du Lac St. Mary Springs.

Clark said Premontre was a good team and that his defense surprised him. He revealed that they had drilled hard on Premontre's attack all last week.

Several of the Hawks played the parts of Premontre players in the game.

Lawrence Hopes to Stay Highly Keyed For Beloit Game

Heseltun Praises Team for Registering Three Shutouts

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Homecoming spirit and pride are two important factors Lawrence College football coach Bernie Heseltun hopes will be working for the Vikings Saturday.

Beloit, another state rival for the Vikes, will invade Whiting Field as the Lawrence homecoming foe.

The homecoming spirit is a special factor as Heseltun says the team was very "high" for last Saturday's encounter with Ripon and he's hoping there will be no let-down this week.

In talking about pride, Heseltun pointed out that the 1961 edition of the Vikes has developed a team pride in what it has been able to accomplish.

Team Young, Green
"We started out as a young, green team and each effort has given us a point of satisfaction," Heseltun explained.

After three shutout victories in four games, the Lawrence mentor heaped special praise on his squad for its defensive work.

"I cannot praise the defensive 'unit' because we have no platoon outfit," Heseltun said. "However, those boys who have been playing on defense have been doing a tremendous job and there's no getting around it. In addition, those three (holding Knox, Monmouth and Ripon scoreless) we also looked good although losing to Grinnell."

Heseltun explained that it was difficult to single out any particular players for praise because the entire forward wall has been outstanding.

Backs Improving
"Along with the line play, our defensive backfield has been improving steadily. This was particularly noticeable in the Ripon game," Heseltun said.

Tackles Dan Brink and Walt Chapman along with the other members of the front defensive line including Pete Thomas and Paul Cronmbeck, guards Steve Gilboy and Dave Eschenbach, ends have jelled into a solid unit, the Lawrence chief said.

"Brink is one of the most consistent men on the squad and Chapman has come along fast," Heseltun said. Thomas, who was handicapped for two seasons by injuries is now "rolling along."

Students Get Holiday After Elmhurst Gains First Win in 34 Games

ELMHURST, Ill. —(AP)—Elmhurst College students had a holiday Monday—thanks to the football team.

School President Dr. Robert C. Slanger closed classrooms to an exhibition tour with Palmer, commemorating Elmhurst's 48-0 victory over Rose Poly at Terre Haute, Ind., Saturday.

It was Elmhurst's first football triumph in 34 games stretching back to September, 1927.

A close friend of Nicklaus disclosed that one of the plans for him in case he turned pro was to play for the Elmhurst team.

Jackie and Arnold could play in huge galleries all over the world, the friend said. "It would be one of the great shows of golf in the sixties."

Nicklaus has said one of his reasons for wanting to remain amateur is to win the Masters, a feat never achieved by an amateur, and to try for the grand slam (U.S. Open and Amateur, British Open and Amateur) which only Jones has accomplished in a single year.

On his record, it is reasonable to expect that he can win such tournaments as the Masters and the U.S. Open.

Bulldogs Are Surprise Team Of '61 State Prep Football

Seek First M-E Crown Friday Night

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

No matter what happens in Friday night's New London-at-Kaukauna showdown, the Bulldogs already qualify as the surprise team of the year in Wisconsin high school football.

The appearance of a Republican keynote speaker at a Democratic convention could scarcely be more unexpected than New London's playing in a championship football game.

Consider these facts:

(1) The Bulldogs have never won an M-E (formerly the NEW) grid title.

(2) This is the first time in at least 20 years that New London has won as many as five conference games.

(3) In the eight years prior to '61, the Bulldogs had won a grand total of three conference games.

(4) The Bulldogs' 1-46 M-E record between 1953 and 1959, including four straight winless seasons, prompted speculation that New London was considering dropping out of the M-E and switching to a smaller conference.

Begin Comeback

Exhibiting new spirit and confidence, the Bulldogs began their renaissance in 1960. Their 2-4-1 record included a number of narrow defeats, one of which was a 7-6 heartbreaker to champion-to-be Kaukauna.

With all of the early '61 M-E attention riveted on Kaukauna and Neenah, the Bulldogs were lost able to play in Sunday's game in the shuffle. New London dropped with the Vikings in Milwaukee in their non-league opener, 20-19. County Stadium. The game is the lead end, and the Bulldogs still didn't scheduled to report for Army beating Shawano, 19-12, in their Nitschke is in the same position.

The Bulldogs picked up momentum for the first time Sunday in Milwaukee.

Packers Riding Ahead Of Their 1960 Pace In 3 Big Departments

GREEN BAY—So the Packers have played six games.

A year ago, we could say the season was half over. But times have changed and the Packers are now faced with a 14-game schedule. They have eight games coming up, starting with the Vikings in Milwaukee Sunday.

Since the 6-game mark was a sort of cross in the road for so many years, let's compare the progress thus far this year with the 6-game figures in the Bays' western championship year of 1960.

The Packers are riding ahead of their '60 pace in the three departments which mean the most: (1)—wins-losses, (2)—points scored and (3)—points allowed.

The current Packers are leading the Western division race with a 5-1 record. The six-game record a year ago was 4-2. Pointage? The 1961 Packers, leading the league in points scored and allowed, are producing an average game score of 32.3 to 9.6. That's right healthy. A year ago after six, the average score was 26.8 to 18.6.

Strictly on the basis of those figures, the Bays' defense is twice as tough as it was a year ago and the offense has improved by about one touchdown. The Packers' biggest explosion has occurred in the last three games when they outscored the Colts, the Browns and the Vikings by 127 to 31—an average score of 42.3 to 10.3.

A pulled leg muscle continued to bother him by a leg injury. Lombardi said it was too early to tell whether Hornung would be in the shuffle. The Vikings in Milwaukee.

The Packers and Vikings met for the first time Sunday in Milwaukee.

Basketball Control at Stake

NCAA-AAU Struggle Probably Will be Settled Early Next Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association would have to be recognized by the Amateur Athletic Union the International Amateur Basketball Association in a life and death struggle that probably will be settled early next year.

If the NCAA wins, it probably will mean the end of the AAU as an effective administrative body over United States amateur sports.

If the AAU wins, the organization will emerge stronger than ever.

The battlefield is the control of basketball in this country. The NCAA has proposed the formation of a United States basketball federation to govern the sport. There would be five parties. In addition to the NCAA, it would be composed of the AAU, the Amateur Athletic Union, the National Federation of State High School Associations, the National Basketball Association, and the YMCA.

Stripped of Authority
Under the proposed federation all five organizations would have a say in the governing of the game. If it goes into effect, the AAU would be stripped of its current authority.

However, the catch is this: If the AAU wins, it would have to function, the federation order to function, the federation order to function, the federation order to function.

"We think we have legitimate reason for being accepted," said Byers. "If we fail and the FIBA decides to keep the AAU, we will try again some other time."

Byers also emphasized that the NCAA was not trying to take over the governing of basketball. He said the main complaint of the NCAA is that it does not get proper representation in the governing of the sport.

However, a memorandum issued by a special AAU Olympic relations committee of the NCAA, headed by Athletic Director Wilbur C. Johns of UCLA, Monday left no doubt as to the future course of action if the federation gets recognition by the FIBA.

After setting forth its outline of the basketball federation, the committee report states:

"It is anticipated that this same basic structure would be utilized for the creation of federations in other sports."

The council continues its meeting today and the NCAA infractions committee is expected to dole out some disciplinary penalties.

His speed on this run, and in similar dashes in the Giants five triumphs in six games, has made everyone conscious of his presence once more.

"I haven't seen him run like this since 1956," Coach Al Sherman said. "The man is amazing, and his moves now are even bet-ter than they were when he was five or six years younger."

So far, he's gained 402 yards in 74 carries for almost a 5.5 average gain. His best year, in 1955 when he joined the Giants after dazzling the Canadian League, he averaged an even 5.0.

College Kickers Make Record 81.8 Per Cent of PAT Tries

NEW YORK (AP)—The foot is field goals at a record rate not only back in college football They've booted 128 in 301 games, but it's a highly accurate one, 12 more than at the same time a year ago. Their success average the mid-season check by the NCAA Service Bureau indicated today.

During the first half of the 1961 season 81.8 per cent of all point after-touchdown placements have been successful—well above the record high percentage of 74.6 set last year.

In 1960, the last year of the "narrow" posts, the college boot-ers were successful in only 61.7 per cent of their tries for points after touchdowns.

Being Used Less
Along with the return of the foot came a decreasing use of the two-point conversion try. It is being used less this year than at any time since it was introduced three years ago.

Two-pointers have been tried after only 26.2 per cent of this year's touchdowns. Furthermore, its percentage of success is only 42.3. When it first was introduced the option was used after 59.3 per cent of the touchdowns.

The collegians also are kicking

Injuries Still Hamper Taylor And Hornung

Held to 46 Yards
One of the Vikings' chief accomplishments was holding Tay-lor to 46 yards on 14 carries.

Lombardi said Monday the Vi-kings "defended" Taylor well, but a dangerous threat both inside and out, the sophomore from Vanderbilt averaged 9.9 yards in 16 carries Sunday in the Packers' 33-7 victory over the Vikings.

Comes Off Bench
Moore, a 23-year-old who led the league in kickoff returns with a 33.1 average in his rookie sea-son, picked up 158 of the Packers' 214 yards on the ground against Minnesota after coming off the bench in the first quarter when Hornung aggravated a knee injury. He said the condition was the result of Packer success, for active military service Oct. 30 in the defense build-up.

Moore has brought his point total to 92 points with four field goals and three extra points. He's scoring at a clip that would break his own NFL mark of 176 points.

But Uncle Sam's going to intervene. The Packers, leaders in the loose on that long one," said Vi-king Coach Norm Van Brocklin at a clip that would break his entire Viking team rushing.

"We made it on the inside," Lombardi said. "They stopped Taylor, but they couldn't nail who now plays defense for the Vikings, caught up with Moore on territory once reaching the 42 on yard jaunt that set up Green the Minnesota 13 "Tom gets those an 18-yard jaunt by Billy Kilmer knees up," said Pesonen. "He's—who proceeded to lose the ball on a fumble.

Pro Grid Notes

Packers, Giants Boast Top 1961 Win Streaks

NEW YORK (AP)—The Green West with a 5-1 record, and the neapolis-St. Paul, Green Bay Bay Packers, who'll be playing New York Giants, tied for first came away with a 33-7 victory without National Football League in the Eastern Division with the scoring leader Paul Hornung alter this Sunday's game against Philadelphia Eagles at 5-1, are Minnesota, may not be hurtin' as the only clubs in the circuit with much as expected in their battle five-game winning streaks. Both to retain the Western Conference lost their openers.

The reason Tom Moore. A sure-footed halfback with 215 pounds of bulk that makes him in the Giants' 24-14 victory over secutive conversions That still leaves him 57 shy of the record held by George Blanda, who boot ed 156 for the Chicago Bears from 1951 to 1956.

The Washington Redskins are rolling up an impressive record on the debit side of the ledger. Their 24-0 loss to St. Louis was the sixth this year and 14th in a row over a two-season span and marked the first time in their 23-year history they have been shut out in consecutive games.

Pittsburgh administered a 20-0 beating the previous week. Quarterback Len Dawson of the Cleveland Browns, replacing the injured Milt Plum, got his second starting assignment in five years Sunday when he opened against the Steelers.

The biggest shock of the week-end was Chicago's 31-0 walloping of San Francisco and the com-plete blanking of the 49ers vaunt-ed shotgun offense that had aver-aged over 40 points a game in the previous three outings.

The 49ers moved into Chicago territory once reaching the 42 on yard jaunt by Billy Kilmer knees up," said Pesonen. "He's—who proceeded to lose the ball on a fumble.

Wall Street to be Run by Machines

BY SYLVIA PORTER

This is the way it will be in the Wall Street and Main Street of tomorrow for the tens of millions of us who will be buying and selling stocks and for the brokers who will be serving us. You'll walk into a brokerage office to ask a securities representative for the price of your favorite stock. On his desk will be a box looking somewhat like an adding machine. He'll press a button and—presto—out will come the price at which your stock sold last plus its high and low quotes for the day.

Porter

You'll ask your broker to buy or sell some shares of stock. He'll pick up a phone, enter your order by voice, and instantaneously what you've asked him to do and he has said will come out on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange as a printed message. You'll discuss with your broker a possible transaction and ask him to give you the prices at which a stock is then being quoted for purchase or sale. He'll dial a phone number, get the bid and ask prices by a recorded announcement, just as you might dial a number now and get the weather by a recorded announcement.

Faster Ticker Tape

You'll decide to stay a while in the brokerage office to watch what's happening to stock prices in general and a stock you've just bought or sold in particular. By the time you've settled in a chair, your transaction will have crossed on a bigger, much master ticker tape.

Automation is coming to Wall Street—the heart of our nation's financial system—and to all the financial firms that branch out and serve Main Streets from coast to coast.

It is coming none too soon, for the wild upsurge in the volume of stock trading earlier this year has overwhelmed the facilities of all floor securities markets—including in 1971 of the old-fashioned days the giant New York Stock Exchange. For instance, on Feb. 28, the so-called high speed stock ticker ran late for four hours and two minutes of a 5½ hour session, at one time the tape was 18 minutes behind actual trading.

People Still Decide

Of course, "people" still will reach conclusions on what to buy or sell, when and how much. No computer has yet been invented to substitute for experience, discretion and judgment and if one was created which came up with perfect answers on stocks, its messages would cause such a pile-up of purchase or sale orders at a time that the market would become chaotic on the up or downside.

Still, the mechanical brain is dramatically changing the face and structure of finance as well as industry, and I know by reason and instinct that the securities markets and brokerage firms of 1971 will bear scant resemblance to the setups of 1961.

Actually, the securities markets would strangle themselves if the electronic age were not here to ease and accelerate activity. This year the average volume of trading on the big board alone is running around 4 million shares a day. This is likely to be 5-6 million a day by 1970 and, during peak trading sessions, 8-9 million shares a day may be a normal turnover.

Old-Fashioned 1961

The total of stockholders right now is at an all-time high of 16 million, could reach 22-25 million by 1970.

The volume of shares listed on the New York Exchange is at 69 billion, up 440 million just since the start of 1961, and heading for 11 billion by 1970.

As of today there are over 40 million stockholders of record in publicly-held companies. This could be 65-70 million in a decade.

Its appearance will not only be of the biggest cause of all washer failure with the revolutionary new, self-adjusting, "Double-Prep" motor. For the first time, unnecessary repair calls are eliminated... needless "part-changing" is ended and if repair ever is called for, Norge 100% Front-Service is quick and easy. Your service calls are slashed. Your washer is back in action fast!

To Your Good Health

Male 'Change of Life' Not Question of Hormones

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I'm 51 and have been plagued with emotional disturbances, anxiety, fears, tightening of the back and leg muscles, etc., for two years. My doctor tells me I am going through the 'male change of life.' I take a tranquilizer every morning. These keep me fairly calm during the day. Can you tell me more about this?" H.N."

Dr. Molner

suppose there's no real harm in calling it "the change of life," the term is misleading, because it may make a man expect that he requires some fairly well-defined course of treatment.

No, the nerves that sometimes hit a man in his latter 40's and early 50's are an entirely different sort of thing. They are not related as are a woman's to change in the child-bearing cycle (the end of it, that is).

The male does not experience a "change of life" that, with physical as well as sometimes mental manifestations, comes to all women.

That is to say, the woman experiences a distinct change in the endocrine system, which provides some information about anxiety and nervousness. I have taken things can happen to him, but different kinds of medication but they are not the same. So tomorrow let's talk about what does, or what may happen to a man.

Dear Sir: Would you give me some information about anxiety and nervousness? I have taken things can happen to him, but different kinds of medication but they are not the same. So tomorrow let's talk about what does, or what may happen to a man.

"Dear Dr. Molner: The ears of my two-year-old son are badly cupped. Could plastic surgery correct this? How much would it cost? Would he have to be hospitalized, and how long? Could you recommend a plastic surgeon in this city?" Mrs. S.V.

It is probable that plastic surgery could correct this—I haven't seen the child. It may be too early to try to decide whether it should be done. You will have to discuss cost with the surgeon who can gauge the amount of work to be done. Hospitalization would probably be brief. And in any city, the best, most satisfactory way to find the right surgeon is to ask your personal physician for advice.

Men do not experience this abrupt cessation of hormone production in men fertility is known to continue well into old age whereas among women fertility ends in the latest in the early 50's, and usually in the late 40's.

Men do indeed, many times experience the same symptoms of nervousness, anxiety, tension, lack of confidence, etc., that afflicts many women at menopause.

The symptoms are similar, the age is approximately comparable—but in men the cause is usually not from any glandular or hormone deficiency. So, while I
